Fisheries Minister Wins By-Election In New Brunswick

Victory Conceded to Dr. Gregg By Both Opposition Candidates

FREDERICTON, Oct. 20 (CP).—Victory for Fisheries Minister Gregg in the York-Sunbury by-election was assured tonight when returns had been received from 112 of the 136 polls.

At that time, the C.C.F. candidate, Murray Young, was running a decided third in the three-cornered contest and conceded the election to the Liberal candidate.

Lt.-Gen. E. W. Sansom, Progressive Conservative, conceded Mr Gregg's election shortly before 8 p.m When the 112 out of 136 polls had reported and counting had been completed for the night, the Liberal candidate had 10,255 votes, representing a majority of 865 over the combined total of his opponents Gen. Sansom had 6,617 and Mr Young 2,773

The seat became vacant with the death of Mr. Gregg's predecessor as Fisheries Minister, Hon. H. F. G Bridges.

The Liberals made it their third straight by-election victory since the 1945 election. Previously they retained seats in Montreal-Cartier and Halifax. In the three other by-elections the Progressive Conservatives captured two and the Union des Electeurs one.

The House standing after the by-election was: Liberals, 127; Progressive Conservatives, 66; C.C.F., 28; Social Credit, 13; Independent, 4; Bloc Populaire, 2; Independent Liberal, 1; Independent Progressive Conservative, 1; Independent C.C.F., 1; l'Union des Electeurs, 1; and one vacant, Yale in British Columbia.

Mr. Gregg tonight expressed pleasure at his election, but said he "recognised the heavy responsibility which I asked for."

"The electors of York-Sunbury have spoken," Gen. Sansom said after the election.

Murray Young, 26-year-old University of New Brunswick student and chicken farmer who ran for the C.C.F. party, said he was gratified with the "solid gains" made by his party.

In Ottawa, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said that the victory of Fisheries Minister Gregg showed that the electorate preferred to trust the guidance of the country's affairs to "the Liberal party with its concern for the general interest and its avoidance of extremes in legislation and administration."

John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, charged the Government had "stacked the cards" in favor of winning Milton F. Gregg of the Liberal party. Mr. Bracken said this effect had been achieved through the Government's appointment of Mr. Gregg, prior to the balloting, as Federal Minister of Fisheries.

Slocan Area May Be Site Of Lost B25

Crash and Explosion Heard on Saturday

PENTICTON, B.C., Oct. 20 (CP)—Search for the missing R.C.A.F. photographic plane carrying nine persons switched abruptly to the Slocan Valley area about 95 miles east of here tonight following reports that a "crash and explosion" had been heard there at the approximate time the plane was reported missing last Saturday.

The reports were received from three logging company employees of Lemon Creek just south of Slocan Lake.

Earlier today search officials announced they had "exhausted" all clues to the whereabouts of the missing aircraft, after heavy weather with extremely low ceiling and limited visibility halted the mass air search.

The plane, a converted B-25 Mitchell bomber, was en route from Calgary to Penticton with a crew of seven and two civilians, early Saturday. Presence of the civilians was not explained. They were Mr. and Mrs. Fred Knight of Penticton.

New Destroyer Due on Coast

Canada's newest destroyer, the Tribal class vessel Cayuga, will be stationed at Esquimalt and manned by British Columbia seamen.

Third of a group of four destroyers whose keels were laid in Halifax, the Cayuga is expected to arrive here after a two-month shakedown cruise in Bermuda waters.

A Canadian Press report said Commander O. C. S. Robertson, G.B.E., Commanding Officer, reported at the ship's commissioning ceremony yesterday at Halifax that she would come here. Personnel will be from the West Coast.

Police Have First Clue In Vancouver Boy's Death

VANCOUVER, Oct. 20 (CP).—The first workable clue in investigations into the brutal murder of seven-year-old Roddy Moore was provided for police tonight when Mrs. A. Braden, who lives about 50 yards from the scene of the crime, told them she heard distinct cries of distress Friday morning—the time the lad disappeared.

Shortly after 9 a.m. Friday morning "I lay awake on my bed in the living-room and through a broken front window distinctly heard a boy cry: 'Don't . . . oh don't,'" she said. "A few minutes later, the same young voice cried, this time in a much more pleading tone: 'please don't,' and then stopped abruptly."

About an hour later, she told police she had seen a man about 25 to 30 years old on the street.

Finding of the body in a shallow grave in brush country close to an East End school, and only four blocks from his home, touched off an extensive police search.

Police believe the slayer used a blunt triangular end of a hatchet to inflict the fatal wounds. Multiple wounds were discovered on both sides of the head, indicating that he had suffered a terrific beating.

The autopsy report showed no evidence of other assault. Police also ruled out a theory that the boy might have been the victim of a hit-and-run motorist and his body placed in the brush-covered grave.

Roddy, son of Mrs. J. H. Turner, wife of a Vancouver logging operator, disappeared while on his way to school, Friday. Searchers found his body Sunday after a widespread hunt in his home district.

Reds Complete Circling Move

PEIPING, Oct. 20 (AP).—Changchun, capital of Manchuria, lay in darkness tonight and listened to gunfire from the east, where Communist troops cut the electric lines leading to the city.

Conceding that the Manchurian civil war situation had taken a serious turn for the worse, the Chinese Government side reported that the Communists had completed a series of wide encircling moves around both Changchun and the power centre of Kirin, 60 miles to the east.

The railway between the two cities was cut at several points.

City Employees Ride to Work in Company Trucks

—Colonist Photos

Faced with a paralyzing transit strike, officials of large department stores despatched company trucks to transport employees to and from work. In the top photo, Bob Dickinson is shown helping a girl employee from his delivery truck. Lower picture depicts the heavy vehicular traffic resulting from lack of street cars, noticeable on Douglas Street. A Vancouver Island Coach Lines bus, heavily loaded, can be seen at left. The rumble of ancient street cars was noticeably absent.

Mauling Case Data Sought By Ratepayers

Indignation was expressed at the regular meeting of Ward Four Saanich Ratepayers' Association last night over the suppression of facts concerning the mauling of 12-year-old Joyce Hicks by two large bull mastiffs on October 6.

Thomas Chalmers, a member of the group, said, "I understand that Reeve Warren gave it to the press that the police commission did not want to become implicated in the matter.

"If this is not a police matter, what is it?" he asked.

Following his proposal that complete details of the case be obtained from the Saanich Council, the meeting appointed a delegation of two members to attend the next council session for this purpose.

No Great Alarm Over Petrillo

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP). — The Canadian Broadcasting Corporation is not greatly alarmed over a proposed ban by James C. Petrillo's American Federation of Musicians on the making of recordings, A. D. Dunton, C.B.C. chairman, said tonight.

Mr. Dunton said the ban, due to be set into affect at the end of the year, "shouldn't affect the C.B.C. much because we use a much higher proportion of 'live' music on our programs; that is, we use as much 'live' music as we can afford."

Sooke Harbor's "Mine" Proves to Be Deadhead

"It was just a deadhead—an upright, partially sunken log," said naval officials at Esquimalt last night when asked about findings of R.C.N. motor launch 124, sent off Sooke Harbor yesterday in response to a report a floating mine had been sighted.

The motor launch, under the command of Lieut. R. Thurber, with a regular crew of 15 men, left Esquimalt yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the request of the Department of Transport. The department first received word of a mine from a fish packer.

Searching operations centred around Secretary Island off Sooke Harbor.

Such floating mine "alarms" are common along the entire Pacific Coast, naval officials said. On the sea, and especially at a considerable distance, many floating objects such as uprighted logs, stumps, boxes and others are often mistaken for mines.

Armed with only the slightest details regarding an object, specially trained and equipped naval personnel are dispatched to the scene to make sure if there is the slightest possibility it is a mine.

Railwaymen Give Notice Of Strike on November 3

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (CP).—Canadian railroads late today received notice that approximately 125,000 of their employees in 17 unions "will concertedly and peacefully withdraw" from their service November 3 at 6 a.m. in a demand for two weeks' annual vacation with pay.

Shortly afterwards the Canadian National Railways and Canadian Pacific Railway Company said in a joint statement that a meeting "to discuss the matter" will be held tomorrow afternoon with union leaders.

Earlier, F. R. Hall, chairman of the unions' joint negotiating committee, which served the strike notice, had declined to comment on the possibility that resumption of direct negotiations with the railroads was not ruled out by the strike call.

Mr. Hall said that Railway Express Department employees and telegraphers will not be affected by the walkout decision, since they already enjoy vacations with pay.

He said also that "affected employees engaged in train service will withdraw at the end of their runs" on the strike date

In addition to the C.P.R. and the C.N.R., the union's decision involves their jointly and separately owned subsidiaries and ancillaries and six other railways. Pacific Great Eastern Railway, Algoma Central Railway, Toronto, Hamilton and Buffalo Railway, Ontario Northland Railway, Sydney and Louisburg Railway and Essex Terminal Railway.

In Victoria it was learned that railway service on Vancouver Island will be halted if a strike is actually called.

The strike would include the Esquimalt & Nanaimo Railway and the Pacific Great Eastern Railway About 500 men are employed on the E. & N.

Gold Reserves Sold by Britain

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP) — Britain announced tonight another $120,000,000 dip into the country's gold reserves on the eve of a new session of Parliament and in the midst of an economic crisis.

Announcement of sale of the gold to the United States in exchange for dollars was accompanied by disclosure that the treasury had obtained an equal number of dollars through an exchange of sterling with the international monetary fund

The sterling exchange was made Sunday while the gold was the total of sales over the last month, a treasury announcement said. Similar disclosures will be made monthly hereafter the statement added. It said arrangements have been made for "various shipments of gold at suitable intervals" in the future.

The $240,000,000 total presumably represents for approximately a five-week period Britain's adverse balance of trade with the United States and other "hard-currency" countries—the imports she is unable to pay for from proceeds of her exports.

Says Immigration Wrongly Handled

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Premier George Drew of Ontario, terming the provincial immigration scheme one that has gone ahead with "vigor and vitality" charged tonight that the Federal Government had mishandled immigration since entering office in 1935.

Coal Supply Would Be Hit

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—A severe coal shortage would develop here "within a day or two" if Canadian railway employees go on strike November 3, Edward R. Lockyear, secretary of the Toronto Coal Exchange, said tonight.

"A railway strike would be absolutely calamitous," Mr. Lockyear said. "Owing to the present coal car shortage, Toronto coal yards are unable to accumulate stockpiles of coal. We are on a hand-to-mouth basis, delivering coal to our consumers almost as soon as we get it from the United States."

A dairy spokesman said a railway strike would have no serious effect on Toronto's milk supply, since most milk is brought in by truck. However, trade sources said citrus fruits and other produce shipped from the United States might be hard hit.

Volunteer Co-operation Eases Strike Impact; Shipyard, Stores Suffer

Cars Arrive Downtown Jam-Packed; No New Developments Reported Yet

In one of the greatest unorganized co-operative efforts in the history of Lower Vancouver Island, car owners yesterday eased the impact of the paralyzing transportation tie-up by freely offering rides.

First day of the strike of 245 transportation workers saw Victorians co-operate in a manner rarely before experienced Walking to work, a practice carried on by many Victorians, became mainly a matter of choice.

The second strike in three years for Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster forced residents to don their walking shoes and glumly set out for downtown. However, their unhappiness was soon replaced by a smile as motorists proved willing to help. Automobiles were jam-packed before arriving in the business section.

As many workers arrived at work early as late according to store officials Many left home very early in an attempt to walk to work on time, then received unexpected lifts Expectations that truck drivers operating on "C" chauffeur licences would be allowed to carry passengers in the bodies of trucks proved groundless yesterday

The absence of street cars on city streets left the downtown section quiet, and Victorians got an insight into conditions when the modern bus system is effected Traffic, however was extremely heavy.

Being a nice day, many Victorians actually enjoyed the air as they walked briskly towards the city centre Latest styles while giving a girl the new "long look" cut down her stride about six inches fore and aft, which in the long run meant a lot of steps

Probably the hardest hit businesses in Victoria were Yarrows Ltd and large department stores. At the shipyard, officials reported absenteeism and tardiness at 10 per cent Downtown stores reported a noticeable slump in sales

Thousands of workers in sawmills and industrial plants in the Fraser Valley are facing unemployment as a result of the strike, according to a Canadian Press report. The interurban lines, worked by members of the International Railroad Brotherhood operated yesterday, but union officials said that they would not operate today

Meanwhile A. E. Grauer, B.C.E.R. president, said public opinion would settle the strike. There was no move toward settlement.

F. P. French, president of the Victoria local, said the union had done everything on solid legal ground leading up to the strike and hoped to avoid any incidents which might lead to trouble

Late last night no new developments had occured, as residents of British Columbia's three major centres stood by to trek to work once again

Strike Brief In Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Oct. 20—Many children missed school today, and about 100 loggers, dependent on buses for transportation, were unable to get to work when drivers and operators of the Blue Line Transit Co went on strike in sympathy with workers in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster

Learning from Victoria union officials they were not expected to strike, the drivers of 13 buses returned to work at 7 p.m. They had believed they were bound by their union to strike.

In the afternoon the drivers met with I. W. Sangster, manager of the lines, who told them that while the system was owned by the B.C.E.R. the men were operating under a different agreement than those of other cities, and that Nanaimo workers were not affected

The British cruiser Sheffield, flagship of the America and West Indies Squadron which moved to sea from her anchorage here when the storm threatened, was riding out the storm 75 miles to the southeast.

Russia Renews Attack On Balkan Commission

NEW YORK Oct. 20 (CP) Russia today returned to the attack on the Greek The United States and United Kingdom governments in a last attempt to persuade the United Nations General Assembly to accept the Soviet version of the Greek-Balkan disorders.

Andrei Vishinsky, Deputy Foreign Minister, described efforts of The United States to place the blame on Albania, Bulgaria and Yugoslavia as "doll-theatre comedy and badly-produced buffoonery."

He asked the Assembly to reject the political committee's recommendation for an 11-member "watch dog" commission in the Balkans and to order the removal from Greece of United States and British forces and missions.

Earlier the Assembly had a frustrating opening hour in which two ballots failed to break the voting deadlock between the Ukraine and India for the vacancy on the Security Council—unbroken after 11 attempts since September 30.

The Assembly also failed to break another stalemate between the Philippines, Norway, Costa Rica and Siam for two seats on the Trusteeship Council.

Back to Work Movement Grows Among Meat Men

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Canada's strike-gripped meat packing plants this morning appeared headed for resumption of normal operations as slightly more than 1,000 workers returned to their jobs yesterday in seven independent plants in Western Canada

On top of this thin trickle of workers back to employment from the total of 14,000 involved in the overall strike, there was the promise that another 1,950 workers in four plants in Toronto, Montreal, Edmonton and Winnipeg might return to work today.

The back-to-work movement which started yesterday involved the Public Abattoir Limited, Farmers' Abattoir Company and St. Boniface Abattoir Limited at St. Boniface, Man., Brandon Packers Limited at Brandon, Man.; the Intercontinental Packers Limited and the Empire Meat Company at Saskatoon and the Pacific Meat Company at Vancouver.

In Toronto, one of Swift Canadian's plants is due to reopen today with about 800 workers returning to their jobs. In Montreal, another 150 Swift employees will return to work either today or Wednesday morning. Approximately 300 workers in the Gainers plant at Edmonton and 700 in the Swift plant at Edmonton also are scheduled to end their walkout today.

Fear Hand of Sir Oswald Mosley Behind Fascism Now in Britain

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP). — Little disorders in the streets of London's East-End, to which prancing police horses give a touch of excitement, have caused some to wonder whether the Mosley brand of Fascism is attempting to revive itself in Britain.

The man who can decide whether Fascism, or a postwar version of it, shall make another bid for a following is 51-year-old Sir Oswald Mosley, an internee during the war, who now farms a little and publishes political tracts at Ramsbury, in Wiltshire.

ROWDY AFFAIRS

Sunday evening political rallies on the street corners have become rowdy affairs, with agitators organizing their followers to shout in chorus and heckle in the familiar Fascist way.

On several Sundays there have been well-timed cries of "Bring him back—we want Mosley!"

Anti-Fascist elements, sensing danger, are making just as much noise and getting arrested just as often in the demonstrations which have become a frequent street scene in the crowded, bombed East-End.

Most calm political observers have an impression that Fascism could become an issue in Britain if Mosley decides to emerge boldly from the semi-retirement into which he has withdrawn. It is agreed that if he were to come to London himself to address one of the street corner rallies, it would be an occasion calling for many more mounted police than are being brought out these Sunday afternoons.

Maintain Output Warns Alexander

HAMILTON, Oct. 20 (CP).—Viscount Alexander, Governor-General of Canada, told an audience of business, industrial and professional men here tonight that, "the best way of maintaining peace is to maintain production so that you are prepared in the event you are pitched into war."

His Excellency in a three-hour visit to the city was made an honorary member of the Hamilton Chamber of Commerce at a dinner meeting of that organization.

"Victory is won by the side which produces the most and best equipment," he said. "War is not just a struggle between armies, navies and air forces but between peoples and their economies."

Economy Hits Fleet Air Arm

LONDON, Oct. 20 (Reuters).—The Admiralty announced tonight that three of the Royal Navy's fleet air arm stations in Britain will be closed as an economy measure.

Coldwell Raps Labor Laws, Living Costs

CALMAR, Alta., Oct. 20 (CP).—The real causes of labor unrest in Canada are the "chaotic" condition of labor legislation and the sharp increases in the cost of living, M. J. Coldwell, national leader of the C.C.F. Party, said tonight.

Mr. Coldwell said the rising cost of living could be atributed to pressure brought to bear upon the Federal Government by the Progressive Conservative and Social Credit parties, both of which had demanded the abandonment of price control and a return to "uncontrolled private enterprise."

LACK OF ACTION

In an address prepared for delivery to a meeting at this village 16 miles south and ten miles west of Edmonton, he criticized the Federal Government for its failure to endeavor to bring about an earlier settlement of the nationwide strike of packinghouse workers.

"Men cannot maintain families on the average wage paid in the packing industry, which is officially stated to be $35 per week," said Mr. Coldwell. "This means that while some men may earn more, many of the workers make less."

He criticized the Swift Canadian Company, which he characterized as a "subsidiary of a foreign corporation with headquarters in Chicago, for prolonging the strike in the meat packing industry.

Lack of Fuel Downs Seebee

EDMONTON, Oct. 20 (CP).—K. F. Saunders of Edmonton, district inspector of Civil Aviation, said tonight that A. McNair, pilot of a Seebee amphibious aircraft missing over the week-end on a scheduled flight from McMurray, Alta., to Edmonton, had informed him that he was forced down by bad weather between McMurrey and Faust, on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake.

Mr. McNair, now in Edmonton, could not be reached immediately. Mr. Saunders said the aircraft was not damaged, and that when the pilot encountered bad weather he "sat down" to wait it out. The aircraft reached here late today.

The plane is operated by the Salameda Mining Corporation.

Northwest Command of the R.C.A.F. reported McNair landed at Faust, Alta., on the shores of Lesser Slave Lake about 150 airmiles northwest of Edmonton. McMurrey is northeast of Edmonton about 250 miles.

Abbott Silent On Trade Deals

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—Finance Minister Abbott said tonight he has decided not to make any comment on reports of results at International Trade Organization conference in Geneva until he has received a detailed account from Hector B. McKinnon, chairman of the Canadian Tariff Board.

Mr. McKinnon arrived in Canada from the United Kingdom Saturday, but so far has not reported to Mr. Abbott on the contents of 17 draft trade agreements drawn up during the six months of negotiations at Geneva.

With the lack of official comment, there was speculation in parliamentary circles that while many changes might be made in preferential tariffs there likely would be no wholesale renunciation of them.

Canada's position may not be made known until the Cabinet has heard Mr. McKinnon's report. These agreements may be signed within the next two weeks and then made public.

Up-to-Date Coaches on Trains Urged at Dugald Wreck Inquiry

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP) — In a report blaming violation of operating rules for the September 1 train collision that took 31 lives at Dugald, Man., the Board of Transport Commissioners today urged fastest possible modernization of passenger equipment and tightened regulations on the use of wooden cars.

The board's findings on the crash and subsequent fire that swept through wooden coaches aboard the westbound Minaki special charged the collision to the crew of the special, which crashed into a standing train—Eastbound No. 4—at the Dugald station on the main Canadian National line near Winnipeg.

Jointly responsible, the board found, was the failure of the operating official on the train to detect the rule violation that sent the special down the main line instead of into a siding to bypass the standing eastbound train.

Noting that wooden passenger coaches had been sandwiched between steel equipment on the special the board declared it would issue an order eliminating this practice. In future, all wooden coaches will be placed at the rear of the train."

Bracken Urges Strong Canada

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP). — John Bracken, national leader of the Progressive Conservative party, said here tonight in an address that "to speak as if there never will be another war is foolish and invites disaster."

Mr. Bracken, speaking at the annual convention of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, said Canada must remain strong to avoid attack.

He said the danger of war lies in the clash of two ideologies, materialistic communism and Christian democracy. He added, "We must see that our type of economy serves people beter than Communism serves Russia. If we don't do this there will be no stopping the march of Communism across Europe."

Terming Canada's economy "vulnerable," Mr. Bracken said this would be of no consequence if peace were assured. As matters stand, however, "we must adjust our economy so as to do the maximum trade without rendering us too insecure."

Papers, Union In Deadlock

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP).—The Chicago Newspaper Publishers' Association tonight rejected a "Conditions-of-employment" plan submitted by Local 16, Chicago Typographical Union (A.F.L.).

Yesterday the printers rejected a contract offer made by the publishers.

John J. Pilch, president of the local, said that the 1,500 union members employed by six Chicago daily newspapers will work tomorrow although the union's contract with the association expired tonight.

"There will be no work stoppage," he said, "until or unless authorized by the International Typographical Union executive council."

The union's "conditions" include a reduction in hours from a seven-and-a-quarter-hour day to six and a half hours and wage increases which would boost day works' income from $85.50 to $102.60 a week, night workers from $91 to $112.86, and "lobster" shift workers from $91 to $117.86.

May Keep Rights If Sessions Cut

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—Dr. Gaspard Fauteux, Speaker of the Commons, said today in an interview that he is confident steps can be taken to shorten Canadian sessions of Parliament without destroying the rights or privileges of any member.

Returning to his office here for the first time since his arrival from the United Kingdom last week, Dr. Fauteux said the Commons Committee on rules and practices will be given a full report on the outcome of the discussions he and Dr. Arthur Beauchesne, Clerk of the Commons, had while overseas.

Says Forces Outside Province Creating Labor Act Agitating

Agitation against the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act is being created by forces outside of British Columbia, Hon. Herbert Anscomb said last night in an address to the Oak Bay District Progressive Conservative Association in St. Mary's Hall.

Confident that labor in B.C. was satisfied with the act was voiced by the Conservative leader and Minister of Finance.

There was nothing in the disputed bill which was not contained in the national labor bill as exercised during the war, Mr. Anscomb said.

Only addition to the act was the introduction of the secret ballot, Mr. Anscomb said. "I believe that was an important need for labor and that it must remain."

The Conservative leader discussed the need for an extension of the P.G.E. into Northern British Columbia in order to develop vast deposits of coal, and possibly oil and natural gas.

"Our northern territory has tremendous possibilities," he said. "It must not be developed by outside financing."

Mr. Anscomb stressed "the appalling lack of political responsibility on the part of thinking people on all political fronts today."

Referring to an immigration policy for British Columbia, Mr. Anscomb said he did not believe the province required one at the moment. When the question of employment became more stable such a "policy will be a prime need," he said.

Col. H. T. Goodland was elected president by acclamation. First and second vice-presidents are G. V. Cross and C. W. Pomeroy. Secretary-treasurer is Frank Digby, while G. V. Cross, G. F. Salmon, and R. A. Wootton were named to the executive of the Federal Progressive Conservative Association of Greater Victoria.

Honorary presidents are Hon. H. Anscomb, John Bracken, Major-General G. R. Pearkes, V.C., M.P., Sir Henry Drayton, and Brig. J. Sutherland Brown.

Retiring officers are President R. A. Wootton, and Secretary-treasurer Capt. L. S. Daynes.

Mrs. John Bracken will speak in Macdonald Hall on October 29.

Paralyzing Transit Strike Affects All "Walks" of Life

C.C.L. Union Supports Transport Men

Full support was pledged striking street railwaymen Monday night by the Marine Workers, Machinists and Boilermakers Industrial Union, local No. 3, (C.C.L.).

Meeting at 715 Johnson Street, the Marine Union endorsed the "position" of the B.C. Electric workers.

Letters will be sent to the Department of National Defence, R. W. Mayhew, M.P. for Victoria, and Maj-Gen. G. R. Pearkes, M.P. for Nanaimo, asking action on an application for a 12¼-cent-an-hour raise for approximately 200 union workers at H.M.C. Dockyard.

T. A. Mitchell, union official, said the raise is asked to bring the dockyard employees' wages on a par with those paid in privately-owned yards in British Columbia.

Mr. Mitchell, a delegate to the Canadian Congress of Labor convention in Toronto this month, where Communism was a main topic, reported to the membership.

"The union voted to continue an absolute non-partisan political position," he said. "It does not propose to affiliate with the C.C.F. or any political party."

Six delegates were authorized to attend the fourth annual convention of the Shipyard General Workers Federation (C.C.L.) in Nanaimo October 24 and 25. They are S. W. Daly, T. Panthorpe, W. Shaw, Mr. Mitchell, S. Robertson and R. Noble.

Area Students Total 10,525

Enrolment for September in city schools including Victoria College, totalled 10,525 students, it was reported by the education committee of the Greater Victoria school board last night at its regular meeting.

Individual enrolments were 460 for the college; 2,257 in high schools, 515 in junior high schools, and 7,284 in elementary schools.

It will be impossible to obtain correct figures on night school registrations, the committee reported, until the end of the month. Indications were that it would be roughly the same as last year, about 1,200.

Several classes have very large numbers of students, necessitating overflow groups. At Victoria High School, dressmaking, Spanish, and short story writing have been divided and additional classes formed at Central Junior High School with the same instructor on other nights.

At the Central School, the woodwork class has been divided.

Some students who could not be accommodated at Oak Bay and Central School have been asked to transfer their attendance to the woodwork class at Mount View where only a few students enrolled the first evening.

A request from Hilker Attractions Ltd., seeking to rent 2,000 chairs from the Greater Victoria school board for a concert featuring Lauritz Melchior and a 60-piece orchestra in the Bay Street Armoury, November 24, was granted. Cost will be 10 cents per chair, with the transport and damage paid by the company.

Labor Minister Establishes Legality of Transport Strike

Full legality of the transportation strike was established by Labor Minister Gordon Wismer in a statement issued here yesterday morning on his return from the abortive meeting in Vancouver Sunday.

"The union has complied with all the provisions of the Industrial Conciliation Act, and has assured me that the strike will be carried on in compliance with the laws of the land," the Attorney-General and Labor Minister announced.

"The result is most unfortunate to the citizens of the areas involved and it is to be hoped that a settlement can be arrived at at an early date."

Mr. Wismer added that he had offered his services to both parties in case they wished to avail themselves of them for the purpose of further discussion and negotiation.

Deputy Labor Minister James Thomson was with the minister at the Vancouver meeting, called by Birt Showler, Trades and Labor Council president, and attended by representatives of the Street Railwaymen's Union and officials of the B.C. Electric.

City, A-Lope or A-Lift, Still Getting to Work

Victorians, busy soliciting rides from car-owning neighbors and fellow employees, could get little satisfaction last night in knowing that 237,000 workers in British Columbia's three major cities were doing the same thing.

It has been estimated that this number depend on street cars and buses for transportation to their jobs. Many companies were making elaborate plans to provide transportation for their employees in face of criticism by the street railwaymen's union.

U-drives and taxis did a booming business here and on the Mainland. Business was expected to improve if the weather became wet. The luckless pavement-pounder whose boss doesn't own a car or won't be around to pick him up, remembered the warning to thumb rides, but not to step off the curb to do so—that's an infraction of by-laws.

Among suggestions advanced yesterday to meet difficulties arising from the strike were these.

Some identifying insignia, such as a white armband might be worn by pedestrians requiring a ride to their place of employment.

HOME COURSES

There might be some easing of parking regulations in consideration of the greatly-increased number of cars whose owners were compelled by the strike to bring them into the downtown area.

Postal deliveries in residential areas were limited to one daily. Hospital authorities reported satisfactory arrangements were made for nurses, with no disruption of services. Attendance was maintained at all schools. Restaurants noticed an increase in business as workers were forced to eat downtown. The B.C. Telephone Company said its appeal for persons not to use phones unnecessarily had had a great effect. Movie houses were preparing for a slump and societies and organizations were postponing meetings.

Some Victorians, students at the University of British Columbia, arrived home yesterday well stocked with "reading courses." These courses were provided by U.B.C. to students whose Vancouver living quarters were too far from the university for them to walk to classes.

There are 51 buses and 30 street cars tied up in Victoria as a result of the strike.

Army transport drivers, normally engaged in the dull routine of driving the "high brass" thither and yon, were taking a new interest in their work in Vancouver and New Westminster, picking up comely nurses and telephone operators as the army threw its organization into getting vital civilian employees to work.

UNION BLAMES B.C.E.R.

"We have done everything humanly possible to prevent the strike and the onus for the work stoppage now rests squarely on the shoulders of the B.C.E.R.," a union statement said. "The union has no quarrel with the public. Our quarrel is strictly with the company.

"It is evident that the company is endeavoring to place the responsibility for a fare increase on their employees and has resorted to every method to accomplish this purpose."

Union officials said picket lines had been organized to patrol company operational properties in the three affected cities.

The union statement followed a plea from A. E. Grauer, president of the company, asking for "public opinion" to settle the strike. Mr. Grauer intimated the company would accede to the workers' demand for a 20-cent an hour pay boost "if the public accepts" a straight 10-cent fare. The present cash fare is seven cents.

He also asked an opinion on a compromise plan—a settlement based on a 10-cent-an-hour pay increase urged at a conference of management, union, and civic and provincial government labor officials last week.

DRIVERS WARNED

The union membership voted 10 days ago to walk out in support of their demands for a 20-cents-an-hour wage boost plus a 40-hour week. The B.C.E.R. had offered seven cents an hour, and then 10 cent increase with gradual reduction of working hours to 40. These offers were rejected.

On the Mainland, residents of North Vancouver and surrounding districts cut off from Vancouver except by two circuitous bridges and a ferry which runs every 20 minutes, are taking the strike of British Columbia Electric Railway workers "in stride."

Inter-city buses of the B.C.E.R. are a casualty of the walkout, but their absence has been alleviated by well organized pool pickup systems, says a Canadian Press report. Shoppers who usually cross Burrard Inlet to market are buying close to home and providing a rush of business for local grocers.

Meanwhile, insurance companies in Vancouver warned motorists who are providing transportation for fellow workers to check their agents before driving another foot.

"Every situation is different," one said. "We can lay out no blanket set of rules for drivers to follow. All we ask is that you check with us first."

The insurance men pointed out that the car owner who takes even the smallest payment for driving his friends to and from the office, under certain circumstances, may find his accident or passenger hazard policies not worth the paper they are written on, if he gets into trouble.

TO FIGHT UNDERGROUND

WARSAW, Oct. 20 (AP)—A Polish foreign ministry spokesman said today his Government intends to continue the drive to exterminate its underground opposition as security police increased arrests of English-speaking Poles who have friendships with Britons and Americans.

Community Chest

Among the most fortunate communities in Canada, itself a lucky nation in today's world, Victoria shows small superficial evidence of poverty or want by comparison with other centres of a similar size. This is sometimes taken by the public to imply that there is no want or misery here, but that is not correct. Welfare agencies know the real strain of these postwar days, the hardship and heartbreak that can go with unsettled times. It is to relieve this human distress, slight as it may be but real and urgent for all of that, that the Community Chest is laying its budget before the citizens. In the drive commencing this week, the Community Chest organization hopes to realize $130,000 by public subscription.

There have been welfare cases on the city's books for a good long time. The upheaval in population and settlement has left many strangers in our midst. The direct and indirect effects of war have broken up homes, and barred a re-assembly of families such as would normally have taken place. Young people in not a few instances have been going without proper guidance or help. The maimed and the ill do not find life any easier by reason of today's tempo. A good many agencies are needed to care for the effects of such conditions, and these have been quietly at work in the Greater Victoria area for many years.

Naturally, under today's stress, it comes down to a matter of dollars and rents with which to continue essentially needed human services. That is where the public can help, and must. Only Greater Victoria can be called upon to help in instances of distress which arise within our own borders. The need now is to give, and generously, so that this valuable work can be continued at its proper level. Half-starved welfare agencies are worse than useless. Help to fill Victoria's Community Chest!

Sooke School By-Law

Provincial School District No. 62, which is the consolidation of sixteen former rural schools in Sooke district, now crowded out for classroom accommodation and sufficient school buildings, is attempting to answer that need by putting a money by-law to its ratepayers on November 1. The proposal is to spend $120,000 for school works over the next few years, of which the British Columbia Government would find $60,000, or half. The other half would need to be raised by the residents of the district themselves, and the $60,000 money by-law is for that purpose.

It is explained on behalf of the consolidated school body that the program would entail the outfitting and completion of two High Schools; one at the army camp site at Milne's Landing, and the other at Belmont. In addition, school enlargement and a good deal of incidental work is needed on elementary schools in several areas of the district, including new heating systems and adequate fire exits. Sooke, Metchosin, Jordan River, Leechtown, East Sooke, Colwood, Otter Point and Happy Valley are affected by the program; which has for its aim the integration of school accommodation to serve the best purpose in the district as a whole.

The pressure behind the case is understandable when it is learned that school attendance in the consolidated district has risen from 535 students in June, 1946, to 739 enrolled at present. Five additional teachers have been added in the same period, to care for the growing number of students and additional classes entailed. At the moment, it is explained, it is the question of building accommodation which is causing most concern. Without adequate buildings, properly spaced with regard to the district as a whole, school courses are difficult to maintain.

Putting the money by-law is a progressive step. The by-law should carry, if today's needs are given due consideration.

Captious Criticism

There must be many things about an employer which even a private secretary does not know. A working confidant becomes privy to many peculiarities of character on the part of his chief, no doubt, but that does not mean he is aware of all that goes through the latter's mind. Nor does it entitle him to pontificate later with so-called revelations of his former employer's reasons for doing this or not doing that. There is profit to be had, perhaps, in such reminiscences, which is the unfortunate feature of personal biographies of this nature.

A former secretary of the late Earl Lloyd George has written a book of this kind, with some of the belittlements which often are afflicted on the eminent after they are dead. The public is asked to believe that Lloyd George grew to be a "spoiled child," that the man who was the Churchill of the Great War was too jealous of his World War successor to serve his country in its gravest hour. There will be few thinking persons who will accept such a statement readily. Lloyd George was 76 years old and in poor health when war broke out in 1939, reason enough for his inability to reassume high state responsibility after a lapse of 17 years.

There are other captious criticisms of this illustrious figure in British history which come ill from the pen of one who as a secretary of 30 years standing must have gained a position of private trust. The public record of Lloyd George is beyond diminution by a former employee, but it is a matter for regret that the weaknesses of old age should be paraded as criterions of character. Loyalty alone might have forbade such bad taste, even if the judgments of private secretaries were not in themselves open to considerable question. It is a pity that the reputations of distinguished men are so frequently shaded by ill-considered publication of so-called private and secret knowledge.

Mr. Petrillo Again

Mr. Petrillo's ban on record or transcription making by members of his musicians' union after the end of the year is another example of the widespread interference by some labor leaders with other elements of society. There is no evidence, incidentally, that the musicians themselves had any opportunity of expressing themselves on the subject. The head of the American Federation of Musicians, whose control embraces those members in this country, is in the habit of issuing fiats in dictatorial fashion. His latest attempt to widen his field of control, and it is very wide already, shows little concern for the industry from which his union members derive much benefit.

A ban on record production by musicians may boomerang on themselves. If there is, as there has been, a constant demand for their services, it would not seem advantageous to refuse them. The two-year supply of unissued records which can be drawn upon by the industry will dent severely the earning powers of the musicians. Mr. Petrillo says he does not care if the backlog lasts five years, a determination not likely to be endorsed by all of his union members should they be given any voice in the matter. In the matter of non-transcription of musical programs the impact will be more serious should this arbitrary action be allowed to stand.

Broadcasting companies are not without other resources, however. Radio programs are not entirely at the mercy of Mr. Petrillo and his musicians, although it seems apparent the union leader aims at progressive steps which would make him virtual director of the industry. There are other strange edicts in his name, such as banning children from giving free performances in non-commercial shows. This latest edict may hasten the day when some limit will be placed on the power of individual labor leaders to disrupt industries for their own personal or for union gain.

Canadians Abroad

It is evident that the Canadian troops who served in Holland were model ambassadors. The task set them in liberating that country was a stern one. There might easily have been little time for the niceties of human behavior common to normal visiting, but the Canadians found opportunity to show their good will as well as to free that country by force of arms. The Netherlands people have continued to express admiration of the men who lived among them for months, and who set such an example that Canada is now first choice among Dutch immigrants. This is a lasting tribute to the conduct and morale of the Canadian troops. Postwar visitors from this country are reaping the benefit in friendly and kindly hospitality.

Seen in Passing

There is a camaraderie to hard times which shows the kinship between human beings. Many a motorist in Victoria yesterday stopped his car to pick up weary pedestrians, trudging it to work. Citizen met citizen in a new and kindlier light, and no doubt the start of many a friendship was formed which will carry over long after the tramway strike has been forgotten.

---

Most horizons are elastic. It is only man's inability to see that can shut him up one day in a room with four walls and no windows, complaining bitterly over the circumstances. The birds manage it better. Many fly a 3,000-mile circuit in the year, live in a selected climate, and seldom go short of food or variety in their daily round. One expects that they never heard of circumstances.

---

There would be small room for conceit in any man if he had looked through a microscope and an astronomical telescope, and had really appreciated what he saw. The cosmos has a good deal in it that takes small account of human vanity.

BATTLE OF TRAFALGAR

The defeat of the allied fleets of France and Spain off Cape Trafalgar by the Mediterranean Fleet under Vice-Admiral Lord Nelson on October 21, 1805 (142 years ago), was of vast importance to the people of Great Britain. It showed that the coast of Britain was no longer threatened by invasion.

Nelson was, for an admiral, a young man, having been promoted vice-admiral on January 12, 1801, at the age of 46 years. He had been promoted captain in 1779 when he was only 21 years.

The popular theme for the celebrations of the anniversary of Trafalgar is the making of the well-known signal which was given by Nelson to the captains, officers and ratings of the British Fleet. But this signal was but the culminating point of many years of training and instruction by Nelson of the captains, lieutenants, midshipmen and ratings of his fleet.

Admiral Nelson's counsel to his midshipmen was: "First you must always implicitly obey orders without attempting to form any opinion of your own respecting their propriety; secondly, you must consider every man as your enemy who speaks ill of your King.

"Recollect that you must be a seaman to be an officer, and also that you cannot be a good officer without being a gentleman."

CARED FOR HIS MEN

Nelson won the affection of his men by his solicitous care for their welfare. Whenever possible he got fresh beef and vegetables from the shore and ensured they were fed as well as possible. He took an interest in his midshipmen and encouraged them to ask questions. He held frequent meetings with his captains and explained his various plans of battle. He trained them in his way of thought, so that in action they would know how he would wish them to act under all conditions. While he insisted on strict discipline, yet he was kind to his officers and ratings in their daily routine.

Nelson and Collingwood alone possessed that science of command, energy without harshness, persuasive without feebleness, which owes far more to prestige than authority. The idol of his seamen, he possessed in equal degree the affection, more difficult to attain, of his officers. But he was not satisfied that such sentiment should be felt merely for his own person. He wished (a wise and great policy) that mutual esteem and devotion should pervade the whole fleet, and influence men destined to combat together.

IMMORTAL SIGNAL

In the Bay of Naples, in the Baltic, before Toulon as before Cadiz, in the midst of the most pressing operations and important events, he could find time to interpose in the slightest quarrels and prevent the animosity ready to break out. It is, above all, upon seeing this illustrious man condescend to this task of conciliation, and stoop to these humble offices, that we can best comprehend the salutary influence which a beloved chief can exercise over those he commands.

Far from entrenching himself from a mistaken idea of dignity in inaccessible forms, Nelson, on the contrary, mixed himself up with the daily life of all on board, becoming its very centre and, winning all hearts and wills to himself, directed them to one object, the annihilation of the French Fleet.

At Trafalgar, after the signals were made to prepare for action, Nelson said to the Flag Lieutenant of the "Victory": "Mr. Pasco, I wish to say to the Fleet 'England confides that every man will do his duty'." Pasco answered that "confides" was not in the vocabulary and would have to be spelt; would not "expects" be better? "That will do, Pasco, make it directly."

A great shout of cheering arose from the Fleet as all read: "England Expects That Every Man Will Do His Duty."—Major F. V. Longstaff.

Enemy Radar Could Misguide Robot Planes

By E. C. SHEPHERD
Aviation Expert, London Sunday Times
North American Newspaper Alliance

LONDON, Oct. 20.—(By Cable).—When a United States bomber crossed the Atlantic without the aid of a human pilot or navigator recently, it relied on radar impulses from stations on the ground or on the sea, on the mechanical interpreting of those impulses in terms of direction and on action by an automatic pilot to conform to those directional instructions. At the beginning and the end of the flight, the automatic pilot was also required to follow a particular, narrow path up to a given height and down from a given height to the ground.

Separately, all these things had been done before. The combination of them into one long flight was an admirable piece of scientific design typical of the part which the United States played on several occasions during the World War. British research and American development were linked more closely in the field of radar than in any other. The United States Army Air Force has now produced another development which represents a logical outcome of work which was in progress during the war.

By 1943 the Royal Air Force had a piece of radar apparatus which could guide a piloted bomber to a target 600 miles and tell the bombardier exactly when to drop his bombs, often on a target he could not see. That, perhaps, was not a surprising achievement, for Britain knew a good deal about radar before the war began. The R.A.F. was alive to the ordeal which might beset the country and had appealed to its scientists to make electronics serve the purpose of detection and interception.

To turn the radar system of detection inside out was a natural line. If radar echoes from enemy aircraft could be made to reveal them and to indicate their position, similar echoes from our own aircraft could be used to keep track of their courses so that each journey could be plotted from moment to moment on the map. When once we had got the detection system to work, it was relatively simple to go on to the other side of the picture and make the navigational radar plan work. Britain's lead and advantage in these applications of electronics arose out of her peril and her need.

At the beginning of the war, the secret was Britain's alone. It was a powerful factor in her victory in the Battle of Britain in 1940. After Pearl Harbor, it became a secret to be shared with the United States, and, like the gas turbine, it was shared without reservation, and, as lend-lease got into its stride, America acknowledged the gift by serving up radar in neat packets for special purposes. By that time, it had been given a variety of new applications in the navy and the army as well as in the R.A.F.

Radar had advanced to the stage at which beacons were serving various purposes, not only to help the pilots, but also to help the forces on the ground (or sea) by touching off responders in our own aircraft which automatically sent signals identifying themselves as friendly.

The possibilities were almost endless and the scientists were under constant demand for new pieces of apparatus. They generally delivered what was wanted, and, in a number of instances, the United States took over an ungainly bag of tricks and turned it into a neat, small, workmanlike box with the minimum number of knobs and dials and the least confusing scheme of wiring.

The automatic crossing of the Atlantic shows how nearly everything now has been put together into a single box of tricks. Precisely what form of directional aid was given by the radar stations on ships in the Atlantic is not announced. Some of us might make a good guess; but no power in peace is likely to announce how its automatic bombers might be diverted and even turned back.

One thing about which there need be no secret is that part of the apparatus which controlled the take-off and landing—a beam directed along a glide path from one end of the runway that actuates two needles on a dial. So long as those needles are kept crossing each other at right angles, the bomber is following exactly the sloping path of the beam.

Britain, working on the guided missile, has not sought so far to equip a bomber for complete automatic guidance from bases on the surface of the earth. Possibly the primary British interest is in defence. If bombers can be guided by friendly radar they can also be misguided by enemy radar, unless (as in the American bomber recently) there are men aboard to see the things do not go wrong.

No doubt the United States Army Air Force is alive to the other side of the picture, for its commanders in Europe saw the use which the R.A.F. made of counter-radar and radio devices.

WAR MEDALS

Sir,—Reference your editorial on campaign medals 17th inst. Of course we are all proud of our various medals, decorations and campaign awards, but are becoming a little impatient with those in authority over the delay in issuing same.

Realizing it takes time to mint these medals, etc., plus a lot of record checking to be done, surely after over two years since VE and VJ days, respectively, we should be getting these awards soon.

A DISEASE

Sir,—May I commend you for printing Mrs. Catherine Mitchell's letter on drug addiction? That drug addiction is a disease is most clearly stated by Dr. Erich Hesse in his book, "Narcotics and Drug Addiction," published in the U.S.A. in 1946. Dr. Hesse says that once real addiction has developed, voluntary renunciation of the drug is no longer possible and "in this stage the alkaloid is the only thing capable of keeping the morphinist in a bearable mental and physical condition."

If the public realized this fact more fully, surely it would insist on more intelligent treatment of drug addicts, and at the same time emphasize the need of teaching the younger generation the truth about drug addiction—namely, that it is a disease, easy to acquire, almost impossible to cure, and one which at the present time is treated not as an illness, but as a criminal offence?

TESTS FOR HUNTERS

Sir,—By your letter columns in today's issue it is clear that the public in Victoria can appreciate the difference between hunting and the indiscriminate slaughter of wild life.

Is it not possible for the Legislature of British Columbia to enact a provision whereby a licence for hunting would be granted only to those who could give proof of some knowledge of the usages of experienced hunters.

This would put a stop to the mischief done by any oaf who, in his spare time, and with an unsuitable weapon, goes out to destroy anything he can see.

Plan New Centre At Port Alberni

PORT ALBERNI, Oct. 20.—Alberni District Memorial Centre committee plans to develop the R.C.E.M.E. Hall as a community centre, and has requested the city council to improve lighting facilities. J. Trebell is chairman of the centre hall committee. Other chairmen include C. Leslie, facilities; W. Connorton, finance; T. Richards, program; G. Jamieson, leadership; M. Mosher, promotion, and D. Ruttan, equipment.

Ships and Shipping—The strong northeast gale of yesterday had its effect upon local shipping. Nothing that could, by any possibility, avoid the necessity of pulling out to sea, ventured to encounter with the storm. The Yosemite, which should have left for the Fraser, prudently remained at the wharf, and her example was followed by all but the mail steamer.

Observation Car

By G.B.

During a debate on domestic matters in the barber shop, Ben exclaimed: "I am so easy to please that the landlady wept when I left the last boarding house." The boss thought for a second or two, and then commented: "Presumably your next landlady did not weep. She had the foresight to make you pay in advance" . . . When Bill, the Broad Street barber, arrived home to dinner he found his better half looking through a mail order catalogue. With a gesture of resignation, he pulled out the linings of his pockets to show they were empty. "Don't get upset. I am only looking at Spring hats," his wife observed. "You must be optimistic to look at Spring hats before the middle of Winter. You know, there are only two kinds of Spring hats. There are the ones I don't like and the others I can't afford," Bill chuckled . . . An insurance agent at Port Alberni encountered a logger who had just been married. "Congratulations, I hope you will both be very happy. Now that you are married, don't you think it would be a good idea to take out some insurance on your life?" he asked. "What the heck for? I ain't afraid of my wife." the logger replied . . . Recent figures showed that 400,000 persons had applied in England for permission to migrate to Canada, 400,000 to Australia, 100,000 to South Africa, and 50,000 to New Zealand a total of 950,000. Drastic measures to stem the tidal wave of migration are being considered by the Labor Government, and cabinet ministers will discuss the question when representatives of Canada, Australia, South Africa and New Zealand arrive in England for the wedding of Princess Elizabeth next month. A lucky individual who manages to get permission to leave England for Canada or the United States is allowed to take pounds equivalent to $20,000 in quarterly instalments over a period of four years. Antiques, works of art, gold, platinum, silverware, diamonds, jewelry, fur skins and postage stamps cannot be taken out of England for resale by persons leaving the country.

Eire Isolation Being Dropped

DUBLIN, Oct 20 (CP).—Republican Eire, which remained neutral during the war, seems to be accepting in peacetime an increasing responsibility in the international sphere.

Short of dollars like the rest of Europe, this country faces an economic crisis that seems likely to cause increasing hardship. It is becoming clear to Irishmen that there is no way to escape economic dependence on the United Kingdom—for that matter, on Europe generally.

The Government's wartime insistence on Eire's right and ability to stand alone has given way to public acknowledgment of international ties. The Republic participated in the Paris talks on the Marshall Plan and will discuss the possibility of a European customs union. Its application for membership in the United Nations has been blocked so far by the Russian veto, but the application has not been withdrawn.

A closer alignment between Eire and the United Kingdom was indicated by Prime Minister De Valera's September visit to London, his first since 1938 when the Irish ports were transferred to Eire and a trade agreement was concluded.

Army Winds Up All Discharges

The Canadian Army's system of discharging servicemen to civilian life has finally rolled to a full stop, its job completed.

Only persons now on strength not members of the active force are a few permanent force men on pre-retirement leave and 90 soldiers in the interim force.

Since "V-E" Day, it was announced, approximately half-a-million men and women have passed through army discharge centres.

North lost an opportunity to land at the correct contract when he failed to support the diamond suit on the second round. At a five-diamond contract South could have afforded the loss of a spade and a diamond, and then he could easily have discarded one of dummy's hearts on his own fifth club, thereby avoiding the loss of a heart trick.

At five clubs, South had to be lucky—or rather he had to enlist the help of the enemy. West opened the king and queen of spades. Declarer ruffed, drew two rounds of trumps, then cashed the two top hearts and led a third heart.

West, in with the heart queen did not even consider the return of a heart or a spade because he knew that either would give his adversary the dreaded "ruff and sluff." So he shifted to the diamond jack.

This was exactly what declarer had angled for. He put up the diamond ace, then finessed against East for the diamond queen by letting the ten-spot ride. When that card held, the contract was home.

If West had taken the pains to count South's distribution, he would have known that South had started with only five clubs, three hearts and one spade, hence that he had four diamonds. Since dummy also had four cards in the diamond suit, it would do South absolutely no good if West, by returning a spade or heart, permitted the discard of a diamond from one hand while the other hand was ruffing. The one vital thing was for West not to open up the diamond suit.

PRAYERS of 69 persons including seven crew members aboard Bermuda Sky Queen were answered when the U.S. Coast Guard cutter Bibb hove in view during rescue 820 miles from Newfoundland. Anguish of mothers with ten children and two babies aboard was revealed after tumultuous welcome received by Bibb on arrival in Boston Sunday. Protest was voiced by 62 passengers that Sky Queen was overloaded for Trans-Atlantic crossing. Inset shows Lieut. # De Gaulle Tops French Voting

PARIS, Oct. 20—(AP).—The week-old strike in the Paris transit system, led by the Communist-bossed General Confederation of Labor, (C.G.T.) appeared ended tonight on the heels of the emergence of Gen. Charles De Gaulle's new anti-Communist Party Rally of the French People (R.P.F.)," as the strongest political force in France.

Service on the capital's system and buslines, a spokesman said, is to be resumed early tomorrow. At the same time, the threat of a general strike in the Paris area faded when the Paris Federation of Labor Unions adjourned a meeting without voting on a walk-out.

The Government had denounced the strike as politically motivated and observers had seen it as a struggle between the non-Communist Coalition Cabinet and Communist-led labor.

Both the Cabinet and Communist positions were weakened today by the apparent sweeping victory scored by De Gaulle's followers in Sunday's municipal elections.

Long before returns were complete, a delegation of the strike committee was talking with a spokesman of the Ministry of Public Works

Right Type of Clouds Needed For Scientists to Make Rain

SCHENECTADY, N.Y., Oct. 20 (AP).—Scientific rainmakers Saturday announced new cloud controls which they said could modify the Winter weather in the Northern United States.

They also announced an easy way for an airplane to make a hole in a cloud in order to descend or ascend through what otherwise would be dangerous icing conditions.

The cloud holes already have been made. Not yet done but predicted by Dr. Irving Langmuir as possible were preventing hail in thunderstorms and stopping all ice storms, freezing rain and also the cloud icing that endangers flying.

The cloud cutting was done last April 7 in Northern New York and Massachusetts Berkshire Mountain country. It was done in a cloud filled with unfrozen moisture that had been chilled to below freezing.

This is the kind of cloud that puts ice on plane wings. It is also the kind of cloud that turns into snow, and sometimes rain, whenever it is seeded with dry ice.

But in regards to weather control you can't make it rain by picking out just any old cloud and salting its tail with dry ice.

If nature hasn't prepared the right conditions beforehand, you might as well leave your plane on the ground.

For one thing, the cloud has to be "supercooled"—a term taken, not from Hollywood, but from the meteorologist—and nature has to do that trick.

A "supercooled" cloud is one in which the moisture content is below freezing in temperature but still liquid. A meteorologist has ways of measuring the cloud's temperature, to see if it's supercooled, or a pilot can report icing on his plane as he flys through the cloud.

Vincent J. Schaefer, research scientist who first produced snow artificially in November, 1946, said that under the proper weather conditions, the right amount of dry ice effectively distributed over the supercooled region of a cloud produces snow first. It then descends either as snow or rain, depending upon the temperature beneath the cloud, or evaporates without reaching the ground if the air beneath the cloud is too dry.

Identify Body In Hotel Ruins

PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., Oct. 20 (CP).—Police tonight reported that, while still lacking positive identification, the body discovered today in the ruins of the Central Hotel was "probably" that of Lars Johansen, 50-year-old fisherman.

Johansen, a frequent visitor to the $60,000, four-story frame building which was swept by fire early Friday, was not registered at the time and police said he was living aboard his fishboat.

The body was found by Alvin Jones, whose dog uncovered it while digging in the ruins.

De Gaulle Movement May Halt Tide of French Communists

By J. M. ROBERTS, JR.
A.P. Foreign Affairs Analyst

Whether you like him or not, Gen. Charles De Gaulle appears to have emerged from his postwar obscurity as the man most likely to halt the tide of Communism which has been threatening to sweep France into the Russian sphere.

Early returns from Sunday's municipal elections indicate strongly that, whereas French political tradition would place the country's great anti-Communist strength among the peasants, the people of the cities also are "France Firsters" when the line is clearly drawn.

De Gaulle's six-month-old Rally the French people (R.P.F.) which claimed to be a movement, not even a political party, seems to have solidified popular support in amazing fashion. It has cut into the Socialists who have been running the country in a Coalition of radical elements with the Mouvement Republicain Populaire, has obtained the full support of the radicals and practically put the M.R.P. out of business.

There undoubtedly are several factors involved. The Communists first took a hard blow when Moscow decided to include them formally in the new East-European Axis. That made the party in France an agent of a foreign government instead of merely a well-organized Leftist tool.

The the Communists pulled some pre-election strikes that didn't sit well. The Bolshevists probably intended only to demonstrate their strength and have the strikers over by election day. They tried a similar stunt with the French railroads last year only to learn that once on strike, they could not control the unions and call them off at will.

Something similar may have happened again. A vast proportion of the vote which the Communists might have hoped to get through dissatisfaction with things as they are has gone to De Gaulle.

The elections, although only for municipal offices, were contested largely on national issues. On that basis and considering the normal conservatism of the French peasant who hasn't had a chance to vote recently, De Gaulle's movement appears to have become one of the greatest solidifying forces to strike France in years.

... Oddities ...

GLOUCESTER, N.J., Oct. 20 (AP).—Four-year-old Marie King ran into her kitchen today and announced excitedly she had lighted a candle in a paper Hallowe'en pumpkin in the living rom.

"That's nice," said her mother, suggesting that she'd better blow out the flame.

"I can't," Marie replied. "It's lit too much.

It was. Firemen were summoned to extinguish the flames which had swept to the living room furnishings.

FAR HILLS, N.J., Oct. 20. (AP).—Police pieced together the clues of a pineapple juice-soaked floor, charred by fire, around a cracked safe, this way:

Thieves acidentally started a fire in the Far Hills Market while cutting open the safe with a torch. They put the fire out by dousing it with pineapple juice from cans off a handy shelf. The loot was $80.

---

STOCKHOLM, Oct. 20 (AP).—There was an awkward silence on the Malmoe City Theatre stage at the beginning of the second act of "Carmen" Saturday night. Don Jose, sung by Danish tenor Thyg Thygesen, stood and knocked on the jammed door of his dressing room. Not until a locksmith had opened the door could the unhappy Don Jose again pledge his love for Carmen.

---

ATLANTA, Oct. 20 (AP).—The hankering of Clifford Tommie, 12, to be a pilot resulted in the collision of two planes yesterday—but the craft were on the ground and there was no serious damage.

Clifford clambered into a small plane at the local airport, started the engine, taxied down the field and bumped into a huge Delta DC-3.

The boy was unhurt and the two planes were only slightly damaged.

---

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 20 (AP).—Laura Lonis handed a bill for $2 to four patrons who stopped in her restaurant for coffee and doughnuts.

The quartet declined to pay. Laura argued. In the ensuing struggle she said she lost a diamond-studded wrist watch she valued at $400. Two men escaped. Police, attracted by the scuffle, arrested the others.

In police court the men said they didn't know the identity of the men who left with the watch. They were discharged—after paying Laura the $2 breakfast charge.

Elusive Pig Causes Rodeo in Chilliwack

CHILLIWACK, B.C., Oct. 20 (CP).—A perambulating porker, which led two British Columbia Provincial Police into an impromptu rodeo contest here during the weekend, today was helping relieve the meat shortage.

Constables B. B. Fleming and Willing Conttingham received a call that a 450-pound sow was on the rampage. The chase led through Main Street traffic, through one slightly disrupted fruit store twice and into a doctor's residence.

Rev. A. Edwards, S.P.C.A. official, received a call later that the pig was a half-mile away and finally made the capture—aided by three assistants, ropes and flashlights.

U.K. Commons Back to Work

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP).—Labor Government leaders put finishing touches today on a new parliamentary program expected to be devoted largely to British economic recovery

Back from more than two months' recess, members of both Houses of Parliament met briefly today to hear the prorogation speech read by The King.

The speech marked the formal end of last year's legislative session. A new parliamentary session, third since the Labor Government came to power in 1945, will be opened tomorrow by The King, who in the Speech from the Throne will announce the legislative program drawn up by Prime Minister Attlee, his Cabinet and advisers.

Shortly before today's session Attlee called a special cabinet meeting for a final decision on the proposals to be contained in the speech.

Attlee is expected to speak at length tomorrow on the economic crisis and to indicate the extent of forthcoming reductions in the armed forces.

Milk Report Shows Distributors Gain

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP). — An increase of 2 1-2 cents a quart in the price of milk last October instead of the three-cent boost put into effect in Ontario would have enabled distributors to show a profit, the report of the Ontario Royal Commission on milk said today.

The report added that three companies handled 20 per cent of the milk distributed in Ontario and made 48 per cent of the distributor profits.

WHY A TRANSIT STRIKE?

On September 29, 1947, the Union Bargaining Committee and the Company AGREED on a settlement.

This agreement provided for an increase in take-home pay and reduction in hours. The two combined would make B.C. Electric employees the most highly paid street railwaymen in Canada.

The Union negotiating committee supported this agreement but the men were denied the chance to vote on this offer. An element in the Vancouver division of the Union, for the second successive year, so confused the issue that a strike vote was taken rather than a vote on the agreement. Their sales talk was that a strike vote be used as a threat to force further concessions.

The Company agreed to further proposals made by the Acting Mayor and Council of the City of Vancouver, and backed by the Mayors of Victoria and New Westminster. This compromise would give the men a better deal than the original settlement agreed upon by the Union's negotiating committee, yet this time the committee advised the men not to accept the terms. Collective bargaining is impossible under these conditions.

The Union demands are clearly out of line. This is proved by the fact that members of the three-man conciliation board, including the Union's nominee, which recently heard full evidence from both parties, recommend to the Department of Labor that wage increases be substantially less than these demands. The report of the independent chairman of the board, appointed by the Government, stated, "I do not consider that the requests of the employees for a very large increase at this time has been justified, or is justifiable."

The Union Demands Would Add About Two and a Half Million Dollars Annually to the Cost of Providing Transit Service

These demands could not even be met with a straight ten-cent fare.

Public opinion will decide the issue. The Company has gone as far as it can, considering all the issues involved, and particularly those of the riding public.

The Company has consistently sought a settlement in the public interests:

(1) It negotiated an agreement which was accepted by the negotiating committee of the Union but turned down by the Vancouver local of the Union without a vote.

(2) It agreed to the request of Acting Mayor Jones of Vancouver (also endorsed by Mayor George of Victoria and Mayor Mott of New Westminster), that a three-man arbitration board be appointed to decide the issue, with the findings to be binding on both parties.

(3) It agreed to the suggestion of Deputy Minister of Labor Thomson that an Industrial Commission, agreeable to both parties, be appointed under the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act. It agreed to accept these findings as binding.

(4) It agreed to the further proposal involving a 10c per hour increase made by the Acting Mayor and the Council of the City of Vancouver and supported by Mayor George of Victoria and Mayor Mott of New Westminster.

The Union Has Rejected All Suggestions for a Settlement on a Reasoned Basis

Ask Heavier Penalties Imposed For Traffic Law Infringements

Three resolutions were passed by the Local Council of Women at their meeting held yesterday at the Y W C A. with Mrs. Bertha Parsons in the chair.

The first stated that due to the hardships created by the high price of butter that the Federal Government be requested to rescind the present law so as to permit the manufacture and sale of margarine as an emergency measure.

The second urged that the Federal Government institute a program of food conservation and thrift in view of the need to provide for the peoples of Britain and Europe As the North American continent is the only source from which large quantities of other foodstuffs can be had, it was further urged that immediate steps be taken to restrict the use of grains in this country, especially in the manufacture of alcoholic beverages.

The third stated that "in view of recent traffic accidents on highways that more severe restrictions pertaining to speed limit and overloading be placed on all commercial vehicles, loaded or unloaded, engaged in heavy freight haulage on the Provincial highways" and "that heavier penalties be imposed for infringements of traffic laws, and particularly that driving licences be suspended more often and for longer periods."

Dr. M. Sherman announced that the Community Edcation Committee of Greater Victoria were sponsoring a course in Community Leadership at the night school.

It was also anounced that a bridge tea would be held at the Y W C.A. on October 31 from 2 to 5.

Mrs. Parsons appealed for more used clothing to send to Britain and also for cash donations to help pay for the freight. Donations may be left at the Metropolitan Church.

At the opening of the meeting, members stood in silent tribute to the memory of Mrs. Donald McKay, Mrs. J. McKean, Miss Edith Duke, Mrs Ridout, Mrs. P Lewis, Mrs Jaffray and Miss Adele MacLeod.

The bride, given away by her father, was a pretty picture in a floor-length gown of white nylon over satin with long embroidered veil caught at the temples with clusters of orange blossoms. A string of pearls was her only jewelry, and she carried a shower bouquet of pink rosebuds and white carnations.

Author of New Book Analyzes Problem of the Lonely Woman

By STUART UNDERHILL
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 20 (CP) — The problem of a lonely woman, widowed or deprived of the opportunity of marriage by the war, is tackled by Leonora Eyles in a briskly written book entitled "Unmarried but Happy" (Gollancz).

"Figures are not yet available to help determine how many single women are facing life as a consequence of the World War," she writes, "but the number must be very great . . .

"Many of them are very unhappy or have every anticipation of being unhappy unless they can resolve their personal conflicts and see a way through their practical difficulties: and a nation which has amongst its citizens numbers of unhappy people is not a healthy nation. So their problem becomes as much a matter of grave social concern as a personal and family one."

Mrs. Eyles, author of "Common Sense About Sex" and other "problem" books, tries to advise on probable day-to-day difficulties: how working mothers can dispose of their children, what jobs are likely to be congenial, the necessity of saving and guarding health, the sublimation of frustrated instincts. But her advice is larded with many a pithy phrase.

Polygamy is not a solution to women's loneliness, she says, because apart from the moral aspect: "I believe that most men want peace and quiet with one woman; they don't want the stress and struggle of being a sort of Trieste battled for by two opposing powers."

OTHER SAMPLES

"Most women detest their work. They like the comradeship of shop or factory, with all its kindness, its spite, its jealousy and scandal—but they dislike the actual work"

"The single woman living alone naturally tends to become intemperate. I don't mean that she gets drunk with alcohol, but she may become a passionate gardener, a bridge fiend, a cinema fan and so on."

"We have had it deeply forced into us from childhood that marriage is woman's most desirable estate . . . But you have only to look around your own circle of acquaintances, to read the daily papers, to listen to lectures on social problems of the moment, to realize that marriage wa es no magic wand conferring miraculous happiness"

Mrs Eyles recalls an address in 1919 by Lady Emily Lutyens, who said: "A woman's arms are shaped to shelter something weak, a child perhaps, a tired or sick man of her own . . . Often it is not until she realizes that such things of her own are denied her, that her arms are really filled"

"The problem of the empty arms and empty hearts of women is universal and, it seems, eternal," Mrs Eyles writes. "And perhaps this woman's solution of the arms more abundantly filled when they have nothing 'of their own' is the answer today to many women."

Amazing How Many Want Coalition To Continue, Says Nancy Hodges

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—Canada's women Liberals are favoring the new hemline, a cursory survey disclosed today at a reception which Cabinet ministers' wives held for delegates attending a convention of the National Federation of Liberal Women. It was the first social function of the three-day meeting which officially opens tomorrow

More than 250 women representing every electoral district in the Dominion have gathered in the capital for this first convention of the N F L.W. since 1938. Most of them attended the reception held in the Liberal caucus room of the House of Commons.

A general reorganization of the federation and a call to the women of Canada to take a more active interest in the affairs of their country will come up before delegates at the forthcoming sessions

Mrs. Nancy Hodges of Victoria, one of the two women members of the British Columbia Legislature and a prominent journalist, will be guest speaker at the closing banquet Wednesday.

Minority of women in Government never has held any fears for Mrs. Hodges, she said in an interview

"While we don't see eye to eye on all issues, I've found the men always very co-operative," she continued. "Perhaps it is because I'm used to working with men—for years I was the only woman reporter on The Victoria Times staff."

Premier Hart's resignation as well as the illness of two of the Cabinet ministers—Education Minister Weir and Labor Minister Pearson—had created difficulties in the British Columbia Government, but Mrs. Hodges said she felt the situation would resolve itself.

It was amazing how many persons wanted to see a coalition continue, but then in Provincial Governments there really wasn't a strong demarcation between Progressive Conservatives and Liberals

Asked about the last British Columbia election, she commented that "whenever we fight the C C F, it's always a challenging situation because they're very good fighters."

"An important part of my diet ever since my first bottle has been Crown Brand Corn Syrup. Now, that may be all right for a little character like myself, but let me tell you, these grown-ups sure are lucky what with Mom serving them Crown Brand Corn Syrup with so many of their dishes. And she uses it in her baking, too, as a sweetener. I can hardly wait until I'm old enough to have some hot waffles or pancakes smothered with delicious Crown Brand. ## Agree Women's Organizations Can Help World Food Problem

Mrs. Stella Gummow, provincial superintendent of Women's Institutes, who returned to Victoria at the week-end after attending the Associated Countrywomen of the World convention in Amsterdam last month, states that the world food problem was one of major topics discussed at the convention.

"The basis of agreement among all countries represented at the meetings," Mrs. Gummow says, "was that women's institutes and their sister organizations throughout the world could help the food situation in two important phases.

"Through seeing that no food is wasted and in working incessantly to see that distribution of available food is on as fair a basis as possible

Mrs. Alfred Watt, O.B.E., also of Victoria, who has been president of the A. C. of W. since its inauguration, presided at the Amsterdam meetings and was succeeded by Mrs Raymond Sayr of Iowa.

Mrs. E. Tryon of Parksville, vice-president of the provincial board also attended the sessions, the first to be held since the war.

Following sessions, delegates were taken on extended tours of Holland. Mrs. Gummow also spent some time in England visiting women's institutes, speaking at a rally at Malvern, Gloucester, and attending and speaking at a consultative counsel meeting of the National Federation at Cheltenham.

Paprika Has Interesting History

That little jar or tin of paprika which lends flavor and appearance to so many dishes has a most interesting past. To begin with, the name "paprika" is purely Hungarian and should be applied only to the spice originating from that country. Yugoslavia and or Bulgaria. In English it is simply "red pepper," if one is being strictly formal about terminology.

No one knows just when the plant began to be used in foods. As far as can be traced, it was known and used an an ingredient—in the green fruit stage—by the Moors in northwest Africa. About the 14th century it had made its way around the Mediterranean to the Balkans and thence to the Peninsula of Iberia (Portugal). It was found also in Spain and gradually was distributed by Spanish and Portuguese sailors around the world in the course of their commercial and exploratory voyages At the time America was discovered, it popped up here, too.

It is believed that it was not until two centuries later that the green fruit was allowed to ripen, turn dark red and be crushed to powder for use as seasoning. There was an economic reason for this—the powder was to take the place of the so-expensive pepper. The search for short cuts to the pepper supply led to many discoveries of new lands In the Balkans, paprika came to replace black pepper entirely.

In Spanish and Portuguese soils, the plant became entirely different—that is, mild and with little or none of the original pungence In those countries, this variety came to be known as "pimenton."

The real grinding industry for paprika was developed only in the 18th century in the two districts of Hungary which still are the centre of production.

The plant has been grown with some success in the United States. But something is lacking—the fierceness imparted by the Balkan soil is greatly mellowed.

B.C. Will Enforce Provisions of Act Wismer Answer to Labor Federation

B.C. Federation of Labor (C.C.L.), which last week asked the Provincial Government to stay all strike prosecutions pending revision of the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act, got an unequivocal answer from Attorney-General and Labor Minister Gordon Wismer yesterday.

Mr. Wismer told a press conference flatly that where the law has been broken the law will be enforced.

"I find myself in this position That the Legislature last session passed an act which is part of the law of the land," the minister said.

"As long as it remains on the statute books it must be observed by employers and employees alike.

"Any other position would undoubtedly lead to wholesale disrespect for all the laws."

Federation's request was made to the Government by a delegation from Vancouver Friday. The minister said he had given it consideration and that:

ANNOUNCES POLICY

"My policy will be to enforce the provisions of the act and proceed with the prosecutions."

Already before the courts are charges against two bargaining agents and 114 strikers in the Vancouver steel tie-up.

Indicating that a Labor Relations Board is not likely to be named this week, Mr. Wismer said he would sit in Vancouver Thursday in place of the board to determine questions of fact in relation of bargaining status and union membership status of men charged in the steel strike.

Also under consideration by the minister are prosecutions in connection with meat packinghouse and furniture workers' strike.

Mr. Wismer said experience in the B.C. Electric dispute clearly indicated that if men had really resolved to strike they could do so without flouting the law.

Answering statements that Government supervision of strike votes caused delay, the minister pointed out that on only 48 hours' notice from the union the department was able to set up the machinery for supervision and appoint 18 supervisors for the transportation strike vote.

City Delegate Describes Paris Meeting

Interesting highlights of the World Boy Scout Jamboree, held this Summer in Paris, France, were recalled by Macgregor Macintosh Jr., Victoria, who attended as a representative of this city and the Island, at a meeting of the Gyro Club yesterday at Lougheed's Banquet Club.

"About 60,000 delegates attended the Jamboree," said Macgregor, and they came from countries all over the world.

"Purpose of these jamborees, held once every four years, is to promote friendship and brotherhood, and they do just that," commented the speaker.

Canadian Boy Scouts—representing every province of the country—went to England from Halifax on board the carrier H.M.C.S. Warrior. Prior to leaving for Paris they were taken on sightseeing tours of Scotland and England.

On their return from Paris, the Scouts passed through Dieppe. "The people of that city think the world of Canadians," remarked Scout Macintosh. "They couldn't do enough for us, despite their strict rations and stricter postwar conditions."

Among interesting sidelights of the jamboree, the speaker mentioned the "swapping" which took place between scouts of various nations. "The U.S. fellows were willing to swap anything for a pair of kilts," he said.

Macgregor was thanked for his address by George McGregor.

City Police Court

An old offender was sentenced to serve 20 days in jail at hard labor when convicted yesterday of being intoxicated in a public place. A woman, charged with the same offence, was fined $25. Three others, including one woman, had bail of $10 each estreated when they failed to appear in answer to the charge.

Roy Mr. Fisher, charged with incurring a debt of liability by means of a worthless cheque, was remanded until Monday when he appeared in city police court yesterday. He pleaded not guilty to the charge. Bail was set at $500.

Convicted of failing to register a change of adress with the motor records department, Ada V. Bukin, 1102 Hillside Avenue, an automobile owner, was fined $10.

Car Collision Proves Fatal

Collision between two automobiles at Cowichan Lake turn-off October 11 had a fatal ending yesterday morning for Oscar Carlson, a married man aged about 60.

Provincial Police headquarters here said yesterday Carlson had succumbed in King's Daughters' Hospital at Duncan to injuries received in the crash.

He was reported to have been a passenger in a car driven by Frank Watkins. Police said William Parsons, driver of the second car, was slightly injured.

U.K. Payments Save Deficit

By Colonist Ottawa Correspondent

OTTAWA, Oct. 20—High Government sources said Saturday night that Britain's payments in U.S. dollars for Canadian goods will just about save this country from complete depletion of its American dollars reserves at the end of this year.

Canada, having started the year with U.S. dollar (and gold) reserves of a little more than $1,200,000,000 will wind up next January 1 at the present rate and conditions, with only about $400,000,000 of U.S. dollars in the "kitty." And that amount just about represents what Britain will have paid during the year as the proportion of U.S. dollars it gives Canada on account of her imports from this country.

The current trading deficit of Canada with the United States will amount to about $900,000,000 for the year, while payments of interest and dividends to Americans holding shares in Canadian companies, freight and shipping charges and other factors, will increase that total by a further $400,000,000. Canadian gold shares to the United States will counter-balance the total only by about $100,000,000.

Quick reckoning, therefore, indicates that Canada's entire reserve of American dollars would have been drained away by the end of the year—if it had not been for the arrangement with Britain for part payment in U.S. dollars for goods purchased here.

Norway and Denmark were united as one state between 1397 and 1814.

DANNY MEADOW MOUSE

Drawing a long breath, Danny started across the open space as fast as his short legs could carry him.

Danny Meadow Mouse had just had a very narrow escape from Mr. Blacksnake, but Danny is so used to narrow escapes that he doesn't waste any time thinking about them. He didn't this time. "He who tries to look two ways at once is sure to see nothing," says Danny and he knew that if he thought too much about the things that had already happened he couldn't keep a sharp watch for the things that might happen. He had started out to get some special grass seed of which he is very fond, and because Danny usually does whatever he starts to do he didn't allow his adventure with Mr. Blacksnake to change his plans.

Nothing more happened as he hurried along his private little path to the edge of a great patch of grass so short that he couldn't hide under it. He had got to cross this, and all the way he would be in plain sight of anyone who happened to be near. Very cautiously he peeped out and looked this way and that way, not forgetting to look up in the sky. He could see no one anywhere. Drawing a long breath, Danny started across the open place as fast as his short legs could take him.

Now all the time Mr. Redtail the Hawk had been sitting in a tree some distance away, sitting so still that he looked like a part of the tree itself. That is why Danny hadn't seen him. But Mr. Redtail saw Danny the instant he started across the open place, for Mr. Redtail's eyes are very keen and he can see a great distance. With a satisfied chuckle, he spread his broad wings and started after Danny.

Just about half way to the safety of the long grass on the other side Danny gave a hurried look behind him and his heart seemed to jump right into his mouth, for there was Mr. Redtail, with his great, cruel claws already set to seize him. Danny gave a frightened squeak, for he thought that surely this time he would be caught. But he didn't mean to give up without trying to escape. Three jumps ahead of him was a queer-looking thing. He didn't know what it was, but if there was a hole in it he might yet fool Mr. Redtail.

One jump! Would he be able to reach it? Two jumps! There was a hole in it! Three jumps! With another frightened squeak, Danny dived into the opening just in time. And what do you think he was in? Why, an old tomato can Farmer Brown's boy had once used to carry bait in when he went fishing at the Smiling Pool. He had dropped it there on his way home.

Mr. Redtail screamed with rage and disappointment as he struck the old can with his great claws. He had been sure, so very sure of Danny Meadow Mouse this time. He tried to pick the can up, and he couldn't get hold of it. It just rolled away from him every time, try as he would. Finally, in disgust, he gave up and flew back to the tree from which he had first seen Danny.

Of course Danny had been terribly frightened when the can rolled and by the noise the claws of Mr. Redtail made when they struck his queer hiding place. But he wisely decided that the best thing he could do was to stay there for a while. And it is very fortunate that he did so, as he was very soon to find out.

Next story, Reddy Fox Is Very Curious.

At the Theatres

RIO THEATRE It took the Soviet Diplomatic Corps and several weeks of searching to provide one of the props for Paul Muni in Columbia Pictures' "Counter-Attack," currently starring him and featuring Marguerite Chapman and Larry Parks at the Rio Theatre. The prop was a genuine Russian vodka bottle. The Los Angeles Soviet consul finally found one in the possession of Peter Belyiv, Soviet engineer assigned to Los Angeles airplane plants to approve planes being made for the Red army.

OAK BAY THEATRE Charles Boyer and Jennifer Jones have at long last been brought together under the magic spell of the fabulous Lubitsch "touch" to provide local movie-goers with the gayest, most excitingly romantic screen event in years. "Cluny Brown," the 20th Century-Fox film in which they are starred, and which opened yesterday at the Oak Bay Theatre, stands head and shoulders—laughs and romance—over anything this season has yet, or is likely to produce.

ROYAL THEATRE Greatest casting news of many years is the parade of dramatic stars which David O. Selznick has selected from Hollywood's Hall of Fame for his brilliant Technicolor production "Duel in the Sun," now showing at the Royal Theatre through the Selznick Releasing Organization. Jennifer Jones, Academy Award winner, who rose to screen fame in sensitive, restrained roles, now gives full vent to her dramatic talent in the powerful emotional role of Pearl Chavez, half-breed Indian girl.

PLAZA THEATRE The lovely lass who plays Rosemary Murphy the Irish flower of Abie's heart in the hit film "Abie's Irish Rose," the Bing Crosby production now at the Plaza Theatre through United Artists release, is just about everything except Irish. Brown-haired, green-eyed Joanne Dru counts among her ancestors Finns, Frenchmen, Germans, Welshmen and a host of others, but none at all from the Emerald Isle.

ATLAS THEATRE The most difficult set in Hollywood to crash was that in which M-G-M filmed "The Beginning or the End," dramatic story of the atom bomb, which is now showing at the Atlas Theatre. Studio policemen were on the lookout for any trespassers, and even the working press had to have special passes for this "top secret" picture.

CAPITOL THEATRE The gripping story of a man's infatuation for another man's wife and his ultimate disillusionment is graphically told in RKO Radio's new dramatic film, "The Woman on the Beach," now at the Capitol Theatre. Laid along a rugged stretch of seacoast, this offering stars Joan Bennett, Robert Ryan and Charles Bickford.

YORK THEATRE Hubert Bath, internationally known composer, prepared the entire musical score for Universal's new release, "They Were Sisters," starring Phyllis Calvert and James Mason, now at the York Theatre. The noted musician wrote an original theme tune for each of the three sisters around whom the poignant drama of family life revolves.

OVER THE FENCE

By W. L. MacTavish

"You know, I haven't stopped chuckling yet about that Congress of Labor resolution the papers printed a week or so back," said the Old Timer this morning.

"I've been thinking what a shock it must have been to the Communists there to be faced right up with a resolution saying there was rampant and militant Communistic imperialism, assisted by fifth columns in all countries, as well as monopolistic capitalistic imperialism.

"It's the part about the fifth columns in all countries that impresses me, coming from that source. It sure does look like the labor people in this country are getting wise to some things that should have been clear to them long ago.

"It was Phil Murray, wasn't it, one of the two biggest labor leaders in the United States, who said some time ago that every Communist was naturally a traitor to the labor movement? It is in the nature of things. A member of the Communist party is trained to bring about trouble, start rows, create dissension, cause strikes, do everything possible to unsettle things, all with the idea of bringing about conditions in which their pet idea of the revolution can come about.

"How can a man working for those objects be a labor leader? Labor is working for higher wages, shorter hours, and security. No Communist really wants conditions that bring about contentment and happiness. Sure, they'll use the labor movement — but for their own purposes."

Victoria Scouts Pay Goodwill Visit to United States

Lions' Own Scout Troop of Victoria recently paid goodwill visit to Seattle, where Canadian boys, it is reported, received much praise from American neighbors for fine show. Members of troop are shown in top picture at Seattle Troop No. 2 Headquarters, demonstrating quarter stave work. Left to right in foreground are Donald Mooney, Jim Kennett and Bob Orme. In lower picture, Parkdale Cub Pack, under Cubmistress Jean Parker, are seen during regular training session.

Second Quake In Week Jolts Alaska Region

Second severe earthquake in a week jolted the Fairbanks area in Alaska Sunday night and was registered on the Dominion Astrophysical Observatory seismograph at Saanich.

Dr. K. O. Wright, astronomer at the Observatory, said the earthquake was about 1,500 miles from Victoria and would be felt only within a radius of approximately 100 miles from the epicentre

Observatory at Ottawa registered the "strong earthquake" at 5 43 p.m. (P.S.T.) and placed the centre in Alaska, midway between Fairbanks and Whitehorse, Yukon Territories, near the British Columbia border.

Dr. Wright said the new disturbance probably resulted from settling of the fault which caused a severe earthquake October 15, rattling dishes and breaking windows in Fairbanks. The Sunday night shock was not as strong as the previous one, most severe in Alaska for ten years.

Beer Parlors To Pay Taxes

NANAIMO, Oct. 20 — The City Council tonight gave third reading to the beer licence tax by-law which will impose a tax on all beer parlors operating in Nanaimo municipality. It a expected to net the city revenue amounting to $600 a year

Assessments will range from $20 to $80, with $40 the average, according to Alderman R. T. Wilson, who sponsored the by-law.

The tax for the current year must be paid by March 31. Infractions of the by-law can bring a penalty not exceeding $50.

Mayor George Muir, who reported on an executive meeting of the Union of Municipalities he attended last Friday, stated there would be a two-day meeting at Victoria on November 24 Members of the Union will present a resolution to the Provincial Cabinet urging the Government to impose a sales tax to take education costs off land, as passed at the recent Harrison Hot Springs convention. The mayor expected representatives from all municipalities would be in on the trek to Victoria.

Nanaimo City will act on a suggestion the mayor brought from the union executive meeting in the belief the nicest wedding gift the people can give H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth is parcels for her needy subjects In each parcel sent to England a card of best wishes will be enclosed for the Princess.

A letter from a Vancouver firm suggesting that antique sterling silver would make an appreciative gift for the Princess, and stating it had an important selection, brought an exclamation of surprise from Mayor Muir. The letter was filed.

Police will be asked to curb speeding taxi drivers. "It is a crime the way some taxi drivers drive along city streets. They drive as if it were a matter of life and death," Alderman George Addison declared

Leader Shortage for Scouts, Cubs Threatens to Curtail Some Activities

One of the agencies in the Community Chest of Greater Victoria is facing a crisis—a crisis that is threatening curtailment of some of its far-reaching activities.

The scouting movement in this district is facing a shortage of leaders that has never before existed, according to Freeman King, field commissioner, who has been active in scouting circles as long as anyone in the area

"We could easily absorb fifty leaders," stated Mr. King.

Already, activities of some troops have been curtailed owing to the unprecedented lack of trained leaders, according to the field commissioner.

RURAL AREA NEEDS

He said there are far too many areas in Victoria where Scout troops do not exist. Some of these are Willows, Oaklands, Monterey, View Royal, Lake Hill and Seven Oaks. In addition to these, there are rural areas, such as Sooke, where parents would like to see the presence of the scouting movement.

Mr King claims the people in these areas plead with the association to form troops because "they recognise the fine work that the organization has done amongst boys in other areas."

Furthermore, the field commissioner states that young boys are being refused admittance to Scout troops because the present leaders simply can't cope with larger troops. Most Scout and Cub leaders are working single-handed.

PLAN COURSES

Mr King said training courses will be started immediately if a sufficient number of leaders volunteer. He said ex-service personnel, who understand discipline and leadership, make exceptionally fine leaders when trained along the proper lines Rover leaders are also needed, men 40 years of age and older being desired for this particular type of training.

In the Victoria scouting district there are 27 groups, including 23 Scout groups, 31 Cub packs and two Rover groups.

Membership is just over 2,000 which with lay members of local associations including people interested and working in group committees, is about 2,500.

The Boy Scout allotment from the Community Chest is $3,429.

British Columbia Letterhead Motto Printed "Occassu" Thrown Away

STACKS of stationery bearing the Provincial Labor Department's letterhead took up a lot of floor space in Attorney-General Gordon Wiemer's outer office yesterday as secretaries prepared to take over handling of his correspondence as Minister of Labor.

Much of it will never go into the mails, however.

In the British Columbia crest is the motto "Splendor sine occasu." Somehow or other a second "s" crept into "occasu" in one batch of letter paper.

Quipped the new Labor Minister when the error was brought to his notice:

"We can't have that. It rather makes an 'ass' of the Labor Department, doesn't it?"

United Nations Observer Sure Another War Can Be Averted

Belief that the United Nations can avert another war was expressed yesterday by W Eric Morse, M.A., national secretary of the United Nations Association of Canada, who said withdrawal of Russia from the United Nations "would not mean the end of the world"

Mr. Morse was addressing the Men's Canadian Club at the Empress Hotel. He late spoke to the Women's Canadian Club at the Crystal Garden.

The speaker, who has been two years attending the United Nations Assembly as an observer, maintained that Russia was not yet ready to fight, and may never be, adding that he believed Russia wanted to stay in the United Nations for a number of reasons.

He noted that Russia had at present the largest army, but that her navy and air force were notoriously weak. Before Russia could enter a war, he said, she would have to build up an enormous industrial reserve Giving more reasons why he thought Russia would not go to war, he said public opinion in that country would not tolerate any action along this line. Her scientific resources were also scant, the speaker pointed out.

Mr. Morse said Russia realized that in the United Nations she had the biggest and most powerful "soap box" in the world. As a member of the United Nations, she could shout Communism to the four corners of the earth.

However, the speaker said Russia could not be appeased indefinitely, adding that he was not unhopeful that there would be concessions before the end of the Assembly.

He saw the United Nations as "a beachhead in the battle for peace." Canada's part, he noted, was that of a bridge between the big and little powers, and Canadians were making great strides regarding international responsibility, generally appreciating the ideals of the United Nations. However, there was still in some people an amazing apathy in spite of Canada's growing importance, the speaker warned.

DURING THE PRESENT TRANSPORTATION STRIKE

The public is urged to use the telephone as little as possible during the present transportation emergency.

Despite special arrangements which we have made, the telephone exchanges may be short of staff due to delays in transporting employees to work. At the same time, our central office equipment is overloaded due to our efforts to serve as many people as possible despite equipment shortages.

If there are too many calls, a serious tie-up of the telephone system will result, and vital calls, such as those for doctors, hospitals, the police and the fire department, may be held up.

Spending Latter Days of Life

By Dr. J. B. WARREN

There are three ages of man. The first 25 years is spent in preparing for a trade or profession that will keep him busy for the second 25 years. During this second 25 years the time should be spent in part in preparing to live the third 25 years in comfort, free from pain. If during this second 25 years the family physician and dentist are consulted regularly, the third 25 years usually will be filled with joy instead of sorrow caused by ill health.

How It Started

By JEAN NEWTON

"THE LIFE OF RILEY"

For the reader who inquires about the origin of "the life of Riley" as a synonym for living without working, or for enjoying life without the expenditure of too much effort, we can give only the choice of several stories or conjectures.

It has been suggested that this was first an allusion to James Whitcomb Riley and some of his nostalgic poems.

Then there is the story about the hotel porter named Riley who made a bet with his employer on the outcome of an imminent presidential election; if the porter lost, he was to work for the hotel man without wages for the rest of his life; if he won, he was to be supported for the rest of his life—the "life of Riley"! The porter was supposed to have won.

Another explanation comes from Maine, where in 1884 Prohibition was written into the Constitution of the State. There was an enforcement officer, according to the story, named Riley. It seems Mr. Riley lived quite sumptously for a civil servant, and it was rumored that "the life of Riley" couldn't be led on the salary alone! Because of the coincidence of time particularly, it has been accepted that this was the Riley about whom was written the song which achieved popularity far beyond the borders of his native state.

That song, "Are You the O'Reilly?" is also referred to now as "Are You Mr. Reilly?" It was composed, and sung and danced to by the beloved Pat Rooney, and thus was very popular for years.

Spokane's Transfer Is Rejected

SEATTLE, Oct. 20 (AP).—Western International Baseball League directors yesterday unanimously approved the sale of the Tacoma Club to the San Diego Padres of the Pacific Coast League, but rejected a proposed transfer of the Spokane franchise to J. LaMara Butler, Los Angeles, and John (Buddy) Ryan, Sacramento.

The directors declined to disclose their reasons for turning down the Spokane deal.

As a result of their action the Spokane team will continue to be operated by the present owner, Sam Collins, while the $109,000 Tacoma-San Diego transaction is expected to be completed in the near future.

Robert Abel, W.I.L. president, said after today's special meeting that E. H. Alexson, former co-owner of the Tacoma Club, would become the Tigers' president and general manager under the new San Diego management.

Approval of the Tacoma franchise transfer was the second by the directors since the end of last season. Earlier in the Fall they gave their sanction to a change to the Yakima Club's ownership.

Abel also announced today that the league's annual meeting had been scheduled for Sunday, November 5, in Seattle. Main items of business will be election of new officers and consideration of next year's schedule.

Attending today's session were R. P. Brown of Vancouver, Reg Patterson and J. V. Johnson of Victoria; George Emigh of Salem, Ore.; Richard Richards of Yakima; Collins and Glenn Wright of Spokane, Alexson of Tacoma; Willis Shepherd of Bremerton; Joe Brownlow and Yubi Separovich of Wenatchee, and Abel.

Irish Sweep Information Limited

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (CP).—The Hospitals Trust, which conducts the Irish Sweepstakes, announces that only the numbers of winning tickets on the October 29 Cambridgeshire race at Newmarket, England, will be published in the case of holders outside Eire.

In the last drawing, on the Epsom Derby last June, Canadian winners were identified by names or pseudonyms and home towns. Such information will not be available to the public this time. Drawings on the Cambridgeshire will be held in Dublin October 23 and 24.

A spokesman for the Trust said reasons for the change were that Irish newspapers, short of newsprint, did not want to publish the names of non-Irish winners and that some persons objected to their names or pseudonyms being made public.

In previous sweeps some 1,000 of the 1,500 prizes went to ticket holders in countries other than Ireland. Of these usually less than 100 are held in Canada, to report which would mean carrying 1,000 meaningless ticket numbers. The Canadian Press, therefore, will not carry the results of this week's draw.

King, Brown Clash In Bout Tonight

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Two dark destroyers, almost identical in size, color and years—Toronto's Li'l Arthur King and Joey Brown from New Orleans' Basin Street—will clash in an eight-round affair to headline Promoter Frank Tunney's boxing card tomorrow night.

Managed by Montreal's Jack (Blitkin) Rogers, Brown boasts a decision over Canada's lightweight champion, Danny Webb of Montreal, while Webb decisioned King in their only meeting. The odds should favor Brown but King's trainer, Dave Yack, after watching brown drill, commented: "He's a busy guy all right. But that's the way we like them. He won't be so busy when Gus gets through with him."

Stallion From Whitney Stables Now Here

Grey Skies, three-year-old stallion with fine blood line, is pictured at Roscanner Stock Farm, Shelbourne Street, where he arrived recently from famed C. V. Whitney stables. He was purchased by J. J. Ross, Victoria, for $10,000 early in Fall. Promising race horse before suffering chipped sesamoid bone, Grey Skies is considered among finest animals in B.C.

Capture Buttons

Billy McColl and Vic Patoter defeated their clubmates, Ted Colgate and Laurie Kerr, 3 and 2, over the Colwood golf course on Sunday to capture the city golf buttons. Colgate and Kerr were defending the buttons for the eighth straight time.

McColl shot a sizzling 31, four under par, on the first nine holes. The foursome had a best ball of 29 on the opening nine and 64 for 18 holes.

Walter Newcombe and W. Bowden of the Victoria Golf Club will be the next challengers.

United Prospects

Two new players will try out with Victoria United when the P.C.L. team engages in a practice session at Royal Athletic Park tonight at 7:30 p.m. in preparation for the match here on Saturday against St. Andrews.

Billy Bond, 24, and Jim Carmichael, 22, of Glasgow, are the prospects Manager Roy Barnes has lined up. Barnes will put his charges through strenuous workouts tonight and on Thursday at the same park.

OAK BAY PRACTISES

Oak Bay senior and intermediate soccer teams will hold workouts at Windsor Park tonight at 7 p.m. and Thursday at 7:30 p.m.

Referee's Nod Gives Monaghan Ring Title

LONDON, Oct. 20 (AP).—Although knocked down twice by Dado Marino, Irish Crooner Rinty Monaghan tonight was awarded the 15-round decision over the Hawaiian and won acclaim virtually everywhere but in Britain as world flyweight champion.

The fight was billed as a championship fight by Promoter Jack Solomons, although former titleholder Jackie Paterson of Glasgow had obtained an injunction to prevent the British Boxing Board of Control from immediately recognizing a new flyweight king.

The British Board previously had given approval to the match as a championship affair and it was announced from the Harringay Arena ring before the fight that the National Boxing Association of the United States and the Eire Boxing Board of Control would recognize the winner as champion.

There was no doubt that Monaghan would be hailed as champion in most parts of the world although a good part of the sellout crowd of 10,700 who paid $130,000 to see the slow, unexciting bout—biggest British gate for a fight between flyweights—didn't agree with Referee Teddy Waltham's decision.

The crowd paid up to $42 for seats and they booed lustily during the early rounds of the fight. The mighty mites clinched repeatedly in the early going although Marino tried to force the fight all of the way.

As the fans yelled for action, Referee Waltham warned Monaghan for holding and later told both fighters to speed up the action.

Marino, who weighed 111 to 111¼ for his opponent, did his bit to stir things up, flooring Monaghan with a right hook to the body. Again in the last round Marino dropped Monaghan for a no-count with a right to the chin.

Besides the knockdowns, the Hawaiian drew blood from the crooner's nose and from a cut over his left eye. Marino was the aggressor throughout and scored points with his infighting.

As the boxers went into the last round two veteran British sports writers commented that Monaghan would have to score a knockout to win.

But the decision went to Monaghan and the new king of boxing's lightest division celebrated by grabbing the microphone and singing "When Irish Eyes Are Smiling." This he usually does after a fight but he threw in something extra tonight by dancing an Irish Jig.

Meanwhile, Paterson, fighting on the same card, successfully defended his British and Empire bantamweight championships by knocking out Norman Lewis of Wales in the fifth round of a scheduled 15-rounder. Each weighed 117.

Provincial Rugby Union Staggers Cup Fixtures

The British Columbia Rugby Union returned to the former practice of scheduling McKechnie Cup fixtures through the length of the season rather than at the close, it was reported at a meeting of the Victoria Rugby Union last night.

The annual meeting of the B.C.R.U. held here Sunday re-elected P. A. Gibbs of Victoria president and chose Roddy McInnes of Victoria, secretary.

Victoria will play its first game of the McKechnie series for the British Columbia championship here against Vancouver on Boxing Day.

Complete schedule follows:

November 11 — Varsity at Vancouver.

December 26—Vancouver at Victoria.

January 17—Victoria at Varsity.

February 7—Vancouver at Varsity.

February 28—Varsity at Victoria

March 20—Victoria at Vancouver

Regarding the Rounsfel Cup competition for the provincial club championship, the B.C. body announced that U.B.C. will not enter a team.

Only one referee will be used in B.C.R.U. games this year as the two-referee system given a trial last year did not prove satisfactory, it was stated.

Substitution for injured players will be allowed at any time during the game, the B.C.R.U. ruled. Previously substitution had not been permitted after 15 minutes from time. The question of general substitution is under discussion by individual clubs and a final decision will be made at the next B.C.R.U. meeting.

During discussion of touring teams, it was revealed that it was not certain whether the Australian team would play here. A California fifteen will arrive in March, 1948.

Opening fixtures of the local senior league will be played at Macdonald Park on November 1 between the Canadian Scottish Rugby Club and Victoria College. The second game on the following Saturday will pit J.B.A.A. against Victoria College.

Postponed openers for the intermediate league will be played off this Saturday with clubs making mutual arrangements.

Juvenile Soccer

Heaney's and Marigold-Colquitz were the winning elevens in the division one juvenile soccer games played Sunday, the former shutting out Eagles, 1-0, and the Suburbanites trimming Esquimalt Meat Market, 3-1.

Heaney's and Eagles played through a scoreless first half. Bruce Madeley took a cross from Cedric Robb to score the only goal of the game at the 17-minute mark in the second half. Phil Wilkinson of the Cartagemen was the outstanding player on the field.

Kellow, Longland, and Martin, the latter from a penalty, were the goal-scorers for Marigold. Esquimalt's lone tally came when Buxton deflected Douglas' free kick into the net.

It is estimated that one fifth of all the world's running fresh water is carried by the Amazon.

DETROIT, Oct. 20 (CP).—The league-leading Detroit Red Wings defeated Toronto Maple Leafs, 2-0, here yesterday in their second meeting of the young N.H.L. schedule.

Red Wings cashed in on Jerry Couture's second-period goal and Ted Lindsay's third-period tally in a furiously fast and hard-checking game played before 13,863 fans.

It was the first Red Wing triumph over Toronto on Detroit ice since Christmas Day, 1946, and kept Detroit on top of the league standings with two wins and a tie in three games this season.

The scoreless first period was a bruising, pounding 20 minutes jammed with scoring chances for both clubs, but Harry Lumley in the Detroit nets and Walter (Turk) Broda of Toronto kept the goals clear despite power plays resulting from nine penalties, four against the Leafs.

The penalties diminished but the fierce action didn't in the latter periods.

Lumley, turning back every Toronto shot, three of them on Leafs who had broken into the clear, was brilliant, protecting his shutout with 21 saves, while Broda turned back 34 of Detroit's 36 shots on goal.

SUMMARY

First Period — No scoring. Penalties: Lindsay 2, Watson, Ezinicki, Thomson, Mortson, Goldham.

Second Period — 1, Detroit, Couture (Howe), 17.23. Penalty: Barilko.

Third Period — 2, Detroit, Lindsay (Brunteau), 12.31.

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (AP).—Performing under Midsummer conditions on mushy ice, Boston Bruins opened their 24th N.H.L. season by outscoring New York Rangers, 3-1, before 12,000 jammed and sweltering spectators last night at Boston Garden.

Early in the game, while the players were fresh and the surface fairly skateable, the Bruins sewed it up by scoring twice. Milt Schmidt, Boston's all-star centre, opened the countering with a freak goal. His passout from the left side of the New York net struck Defenceman Frank Eddolls' skate and was deflected into the Ranger cage.

About three minutes later, Clare Martin bashed in the Boston "clincher" on a passout from Don Gallinger. The latter notched the third Boston goal with less than five minutes to play.

SUMMARY

First Period — 1, Boston, Domeset (Schmidt), 7.27; 2, Boston, Martin (Gallinger, Bahando), 10.30. Penalty: Martin.

Second Period—3, New York, Hextall (Moe), 16.34. Penalties: Henderson, Flaman.

Third Period — 4, Boston, Gallinger (Henderson, Taylor), 15.10.

Senior "A" Fives Set For Opener

The senior "A" basketball season will get under way at the Victoria High School gymnasium tomorrow evening with the newly-formed Y.M.C.A. quintette meeting K.V.'s at 9 o'clock. Eagles and Alcos, intermediate "A" teams, clash in the preliminary at 7:30.

All proceeds from the game will be set aside for the formation of an Injured Players' Fund. A large crowd is expected, despite the current transportation strike, as advance reports name these two teams the pick of the league. Experience, in the form of the Y.M.C.A. team, will be meeting condition, in the colors of K.V.'s, a team that has practised all Summer.

Mayor George will officially open the season at 8 p.m. by tossing up the first ball. K.V.'s Girls' Drill Team will stage a colorful performance between games and at half time.

Y.M.C.A. line-up includes Johnny Clarke, George Straith, "Busher" Jackson, "Rookie" Wright, Vic Dale, Ollie Goldsmith, Vince Clarkson, and Don Woodhouse.

K.V.'s will strip Bob McKay, Bob Hampton, Ralph Baxter, Dulf McCaghey, Ron Castner, Fred Ranson, Ralph Anderson, and Angie Stewart.

Frank Filchock Given Playing Certificate

TORONTO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Frankie Filchock, playing coach of Hamilton Tigers in the Big Four, has been granted a playing certificate by the Canadian Rugby Union, it was announced today by C.R.U. officials.

Filchock, barred from American professional football for failing to report a bribe offer, was declared ineligible at the start of the season by Big Four officials. Later by a vote of 5-1, the ruling was changed and the Big Four applied for a playing certificate.

Aces Score Second Win in Row By Turning Back Metalworkers

Brentwood Aces joined K.V.'s at the top of the senior "B" basketball standings by turning back Island Art Metals, 28-23, at Victoria High School last night to rack up their second straight win. In the fair sex fixtures, teams coached by Wally Yeamans and Bob Whyte divided the honors, Yeamans' Eaglettes trimming Comets, 21-11, in an intermediate tilt, and Whyte's Hotshots beating Hepcats, 16-8, in the junior girls' game.

The Metalworkers showed a vast improvement over their opening performance and proved troublesome for the suburbanites throughout the men's game. Aces, unable to find a floor to practise on, had difficulty piercing the zone defence set up by the losers, but they made their shots count when they did get through.

The teams finished the first period all even at 7-7, but Aces showed their best form in the second canto to take a 17-10 lead at the half.

The Whiteshirts staged an offensive in the third period and held Brentwood to a pair of baskets, while adding seven points themselves to pull up to 21-17 at the final breather. Winners stopped the Metalworkers' offensive in the final period when their lead was cut to two points at 23-21, and added five points in the last few minutes while holding their opponents to a single basket.

Eaglettes recorded their second straight win over Comets in a bruising affair that at times appeared more like a Rugby game than a basketball contest.

The Bird girls were in command at all times despite a sterling performance by comely Lorraine McDonald, who scored nine of the Comets' 11 points.

Winners led 6-5 at the quarter, and 13-7 at the half. They outscored Comets, 5-4 in the third period, and held them scoreless to the final canto while adding three points.

Hotshots were far too good for Hepcats in the junior girls' tilt as they racked up their second straight win over Yeamans' team. Winners tallied a pair of baskets in each of the first two periods while holding Hepcats to a single second-period basket to hold an 8-2 lead at the half. Losers split eight points with Hotshots in the third canto, but faded again in the final session, being outscored 8-2.

Line-ups follow:

Brentwood Aces—D. Benn 4, B. Slugsett 6, W. Turner 8, J. Turner 2, Cruickshanks 6, W. Benn 0, McCorkall 1. Total 28.

Island Art Metals—Dicks 3, Lomas, Mitchell, McRer 8, Springling, Stewart 2, Hay, Masters, Carson, Allen 6. Total 23.

Eaglettes — Reitenbach 7, Rufferm 6, Ross 2, Esterson 1, Vallance 2, Bornett, Yeamans 3, Latham. Total 21.

Comets—McDonald 9, Leggatt, J. Bradshaw 2, Florian, B. Bradshaw, Mair, Clabby, Roncock, Mattison. Total 11.

Hotshots—Ritchie, V. Bartlett, P. Bartlett 3, Nope, Walter 4, Kennedy 6, Arr 2, Mattison, Mason 2, Cockburn 3, Ross 2, Dunlop. Total 16.

Hepcats—Edwards 3, Pettigrew 2, B. Slater 2, MacKay 3, Knowlton, Bond, L. Slater. Total 8.

Boxer Finds Ring Trifle Unsteady

BOSTON, Oct. 20 (AP).—Gus (Pell) Mell, 151, of Montreal knocked out Patsy Brandino, 143, Hamilton, Ont., who toppled out of the ring while being counted out in the seventh round of a scheduled ten-round boxing bout tonight.

The haymaker was a right to the jaw which knocked Brendino onto the apron. When he attempted to rise on the count of nine he toppled outside the ring.

Saanich Teams In Rugby Wins

In the Inter-High Senior "B" Rugby League games played yesterday the boys from Saanich showed they were going to be strong contenders for the league championship. At Victoria High School, Mount Douglas edged out Vic High Blacks in a keenly fought contest by a score of 6-3, while at Windsor Park Mount View defeated Vic Golds 9-0.

In the former game Mount Douglas showed good strength in their ability to push in the scrum, while Blacks' three-quarter line worked well together.

Just before the end of the first half Don McGee, of the Mount Douglas' three-quarter line took advantage of Peter Fowles' fumble to kick the ball over Blacks' line and fall on it.

Second half opened fast with Blacks pressing for the equalizer. From the scrum on the five-yard line Blacks forced Mount Douglas back, and Bruce Naylor, forward, fell on the ball for the tying points. Mount Douglas returned play into Blacks territory and after a scramble Fraser fell on a loose ball for the winning points.

In the game between Mount View and Vic High Golds, Mount View showed superiority as they racked up nine points. The three-quarter line for the suburbanites showed up well, as Dale Kilshaw scored two tries and Marvin Tait one.

Sprint Ace Awarded Aldous Cup

Members of the Y.M.C.A. Track and Field Club, during their annual meeting last night, voted Harry Mitchell, well-known Victoria sprinter, the Aldous Memorial Trophy, emblematic of sportsmanlike character and ability.

An R.C.A.F. veteran, Mitchell began gathering track honors in 1941 when he won the Victoria High School Aggregate Award. During 1946 he took the Dominion Meet Aggregate trophy and last season the B.C. sprint awards for the 100 and 220.

The Aldous Memorial Trophy was instituted in 1933 in honor of the Aldous twins, George and Frank, who were victims of a canoeing tragedy. This marks the first presentation of the award since before the war, when George "Porky" Andrews was its winner.

Business at hand for the first meeting of the Track and Field Club included the election of officers. Harry Mitchell, Elaine Silburn and Neal Craig were returned to office as president, secretary and treasurer of the group.

Plans were discussed for construction by members of a 100 yard sprint track on which to practise during the coming season. The need of such a track for training purposes being imperative, it was agreed that a search for a suitable location should begin immediately.

Coach Archie MacKinnon, in a short talk, paid his compliments to Bruce Humber for his efforts throughout the past year and congratulated the club members on their fine record during the 1947 season.

Famous Maritime Rugby Team Leaves Great Record Behind

By DAVE McINTOSH

OLACE BAY, N.S., Oct. 20 (CP).—The famed Caledonia Rugby team had made Olace Bay known for something besides coal.

It was always a rather paradoxical team. It created wider interest in English Rugby in Cape Breton Island, and throughout the Maritimes for that matter, but at the same time it was apt to discourage competition by whaling the tar out of nearly every team it took on, ever since 1901.

The Caledonians aren't functioning this season and a few weeks ago Coach Charlie McVicar announced his retirement for the last time, or presumably the last time.

But in a column and a half The Sydney Post-Record saw fit last week to review Olace Bay's Rugby history and pay a well modulated tribute to Caledonia.

Caledonia re-formed in 1918 after the Great War and won the Cape Breton title that year. They've still got it. In that period they were beaten only twice.

At the same time, they were Maritime and Eastern Canada champions for 15 years running. Caledonia put the MacTier Cup, which stands for Eastern Canada Rugby supremacy, on its shelf in 1932. It's still there. The club successfully defended it for several years and then no team could be found that had the audacity to try to take it away from them.

The spirit was catching. Olace Bay High School teams haven't lost an interscholastic Rugby championship since 1903.

Caledonia was largely composed of rock-ribbed miners. Their home field was a patch of cinders and ashes, for Charlie McVicar claimed that most injuries came from players slipping on grass. The miners held drills after long shifts in the pits and when they had a half-day or day off just to play Rugby, it was murder.

Many Maritimers, thinking of Caledonia and some of the teams that were fed to them, recall a popular song: "Caledonia, What Makes Your Big Head So Hard?"

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP).—The American Legion boasts that 204 players who played for major league clubs during 1947 are former Legion junior players, 113 in the American League and 91 in the National. This probably has nothing to do with the American League's world series victory except that Joe Page is one of the Yankees' 12 former Legion boys . . . Ralph Brown, property of the Yankees, has played two seasons of pro baseball. In 1946 he hit .381 for Tampa to lead the Florida International League. This year he topped the Sally League with .362 for Augusta, Ga., and stole 30 bases to boot.

TRYOUT

When Edgar (Special Delivery) Jones, Cleveland Browns' speedy left halfback and distributor of barbed jests, busted his arm, his teammates figured they had a chance to get square without getting slugged . . . So Quarterback Otto Graham innocently remarked, "The first play I'm going to call when you get back in the line-up is T-25." . . . That's an off-tackle smash by the left half and Jones promptly asked how come . . "Well, that's the play on which you broke your arm," Graham replied, "and I want to find out early whether you can take it."

MONDAY MATINEE

Right after the baseball season, Ted Williams went fishing near Princeton, Minn., carrying a weighted bat with his fishing tackle . . . Ted doesn't use it to club muskies to death; the bat is to keep his wrists strong and supple.

One of the best plugs for Taylor Spink's book on Judge Landis comes in a letter to the author from Kenesaw M. Landis, II, who comments: "You have called the balls and strikes as you saw them, which is all that anyone can do."

Medwick Released

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 20 (AP).—Joe (Ducky) Medwick, colorful St. Louis Cardinal outfielder of the "gashouse gang" era, was given his unconditional release by Cardinal Owner Sam Breadon yesterday.

Medwick, 36, said he will probably offer his services to some other major league club. He added, however, that he had received no offers so far.

Paradox Seen in Selection Of N.H.L. All-Star Squads

By W. R. WHEATLEY

MONTREAL, Oct. 20 (CP).—The All Stars-Leafs hockey game in Toronto Thanksgiving Night was a natural all the way and the inaugural of this feature attraction, with all the official trimmings, was made easier by the way the All-Star selections of last Spring turned out.

It seems a hockey paradox that not a player on Toronto's Stanley Cup team was chosen on either the No. 1 or No. 2 All-Star team by the managers and coaches of the six National Hockey League clubs. That simplified everything.

But what happens if a Stanley Cupper is also an All-Star or vice-versa? You can figure it right down to the point where you have All-Stars who are not All-Stars and Stanley Cuppers who are.

That's just what bothered Elmer (Montreal Herald) Ferguson, who has looked at good and bad hockey for many a semester. So Fergy thought it over and found a way out, a couple of ways. He put it in print, all for free, "and you know what you usually get for free in any line."

"One way out," continued Fergy, "is 'the rest', as it's termed in British soccer, meaning to leave the cup champions intact and pick an All-Star team from the rest of the league. We don't like that idea much, however, because it isn't quite kosher, for purposes of the future generation, to omit all the cup champions from the All-Stars and leave them perish in oblivion."

So Fergy then offered his favorite plan: Let the Cup Champs retain all their players even if some were picked as All-Stars.

"This would be comparatively easy to arrange. The All-Stars are picked by the 3-2-1 method, votes to count. The players who just miss making the Stars should be added, in order of vote-merit, to that team for purposes of the annual game, which would eliminate any tangles."

In addition to the usual two goalies, four defence players and two forward lines chosen by the selectors, Fergy would have a third forward line named by the same selectors "as the Stars will be able to meet the Champions all even in manpower."

Gather Players For R.C.A.F. Olympic Team

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—Canada's 1948 Olympic hockey team started practices at the auditorium today with a group of local prospects and eight airmen imported from R.C.A.F. stations at Winnipeg, Toronto and Trenton.

From Winnipeg came Flt.-Lt. Jack Maitland, who has played with Winnipeg Elmwoods. He was accompanied by L.A.C. Oscar Kleppe, who has played senior "B" hockey in Saskatchewan and was a member of the R.C.A.F. team which won the Southern Alberta championship in 1941-42.

F.O. A. E. Paxton was scheduled to arrive later in the day on a regular R.C.A.F. flight from Edmonton. He was a substitute goaltender for Calgary Stampeders in Allan Cup competition.

The newcomers were immediately posted to the Beaver barracks, next door to the auditorium where they will train daily at 9 a.m. and 3 p.m. under their provisional coach, Cpl. Frank Boucher, coach of Ottawa Flyers in the Ottawa City League.

Meanwhile, official circles discounted reports that the Olympic team might include the army and navy as well. Air force sources said the selection of a team to represent Canada was up to the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association, which already had accepted the R.C.A.F. offer to represent Canada.

One official noted the air force now had a strength of about 15,000 and added, "If we cannot pick 15 good amateur hockey players out of 15,000 young men in all parts of Canada, then nobody can."

FORT SMITH, Ark., Oct. 18 (AP).—Mildred (Babe) Zaharias of Denver won the $2,500 Hardscrabble Country Club's women's open golf championship here yesterday, stroking a 75 on the final 18 holes for a 72-hole score of 293. She received the $1,250 first prize.

TOAST and TEA

BY J. V. McAREE

THE trend of the future is neither toward fascism or communism, though both exist today, according to Stuart Cloete in The Third Way. They are the waves of the present not the actual sea of our time; they are the crests whose cause is a stirring in the ocean depths and a storm in the upper air, a great whipping up of mankind by the winds of destiny. There is a new merging of the depths of man's unconscious with the wings of his aspirations. So that though economics must play a part in the future as they have in the past, they are not the answer as so many people seem to believe. There can be no real improvement until people are ready to change themselves personally. To skin themselves as an onion is skinned, or a pearl, and see what lies beneath the sham lives they live. Most people are blueprints of what they think they ought to be . . . they follow the herd apparently unaware that the herd is continually breaking up into its integral parts and reforming itself. The true trend of the future is what it has always been—an approach to truth, a movement toward freedom—total freedom controlled not merely by laws but by the integrity of men, of individuals.

— "GOOD" OPERATORS —

THERE ARE THOSE WHO SAY . . . about this fuss, that ANYONE can drive a street car or bus. And that INITIATIVE AND COURAGE are NOT required, you just go round 'n round until you're retired. And that executive ability you needn't possess. If as a bus driver . . . you're a success. And that snap thinking ISN'T necessary, and you'll never need a secretary. The quality of PATIENCE ain't never used, or CONSIDERATION . . . for an invalid. And for LOVING little children, you needn't care, if they get hit . . . it's their affair. As for dogs darting out from a truck you don't need PITY . . . it's their tuff luck. As for TOLERANCE just throw 'er in gear, and throw all the clients flat on their rear. And you needn't be GENTLE when you slap, slam on the brakes and see 'em flop. And a sense of HUMOR you don't require, at the ridiculous questions old biddies inquire. And only 2 hands are quite small, making change and shifting aren't TOO tough. And COURTESY . . . that quality most of us lack, you don't need that while driving your hack. C-A-S-H!!! Why don't be funny, what'll you do with ALL that money? SERVICE is all you gotta give, it doesn't cost any more . . . now to live. Especially with THIS davenport, over on line, the whole blooming suite . . . just $148. A beautiful tapestry in a new wine cover, just the dandiest place to bed down your [illegible]. NO . . . you don't need all these qualities of GOOD, as contact man for the multitude. But oddly enuff and despite this mess, these are the things . . . THAT ALL DRIVERS EXPRESS. All these qualities have LOVE as their source, none are tinged with suspicion of force. But the front-office, too, like to play ball. Everyone loses when there's a brawl. So may be if those, having the power to wield, were to change places . . . go out in the field. They'd get to know each other better, and Dad as operator another go-getter. A regular guy trying to keep outta the red, feed his kids, have a roof over his head. A family guy . . . real brotherlike, who really hates a go on strike. But until the day in the conference room when all his qualities dispel the gloom there isn't much that he can do except walk and wonder . . . ABOUT REVENUE

SIDNEY and VICINITY

This beautiful and fertile district that enjoys Canada's finest climate offers you a home, a ranch, or a farm, in every size and price bracket. What do you want? Our listings are too long and varied to cover in an ad. To tell you about each one would make a sizable book, therefore your best plan is to come to our office, let us describe any listings to you. If we've got what you want, then let's go and look them over. Until you inspect a place one cannot be expected to purchase, and so many places that look good in print are pretty disappointing when you get on the scene.

There is one thing you can be sure of and that is, that we know what is for sale and whether it is worth your while to inspect.

Save your time and patience by a call at Sidney's Real Estate Headquarters.

NANAIMO, Oct. 20 (CP).—Nanaimo's chances of retaining its franchise in the Pacific Coast Senior Soccer League yesterday took a definite lift when Jimmie Knight's all-Nanaimo eleven came through with a brilliant showing as they held the 1946-47 Dominion champions St. Andrews to a nip-and-tuck 2-1 decision before approximately 700 fans here.

Pulling itself up by the boot-tops, Jimmie Knight and company, following a meeting with the league executive, gained a chance to show what Nanaimo could do with a team chosen from the ranks of this city's soccerites.

The visiting Saints scored both their goals in the initial half with Nanaimo bagging their only tally in the final 45 in the wake of a penalty kick taken by the greatly improved Alvin Parks. St. Andrews goal getters were Jimmy Greig and the Scots' recently-signed Stubby MacLean, smooth centre forward.

As a result of Nanaimo's showing yesterday officials have now scheduled Nanaimo to meet the powerful North Shoremen this week-end on the Mainland.

Renowned Pacer, Sire Succumbs

HANOVER, Pa., Oct. 20 (AP).—Billy Direct, standard-bred horse with two world record pacing titles, died yesterday at the Hanover Shoe Farms. He was foaled in 1934.

Pacing as a four-year-old, Billy Direct set a world mark of 1:55 for the mile on a mile-track at Lexington, Ky., in 1938 and 1:58¾ for the same distance on a half-mile track at Goshen, N.Y., a year later.

An outstanding sire, the horse begot three pacers with records of two minutes or better for the mile, Direct Express, Ensign Hanover and Morgan Hanover.

Painful Piles

I can help most pile sufferers. I believe I can help you, too, if you want relief from the itching soreness and burning pain of piles.

My Hem-Roid formula is different. Hem-Roid is an internal treatment, a small tablet taken with a glass of water. It helps relieve some of the conditions inside your body that cause you such intense pile soreness and pain.

But I'll be honest with you—there are some cases where Hem-Roid does not seem to help very much. I refuse to ask people to pay for something that does not help them. If Hem-Roid helps YOU surely it is worth the small cost. If it does not help you I want you to have your money back. I will take your word. I find people are honest about such things.

Simply go to any drug store and get a package of Hem-Roid. Use it as directed for 10 days. Then if you are not satisfied return what you did not use and get your money back. This is an unusual offer but Hem-Roid has been sold on a refund promise for over 40 years. I am not asked to make many refunds as Hem-Roid must help most people who use it.

Try Hem-Roid now. It won't cost you a penny if it does not help you. Advt.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK, Oct. 20 (AP).—The bulls moved on the stock market in force today, and despite considerable selling opposition, pushed up selected steels, oils, motors, rails and special issues 1 to 3 or more points on the sixth straight full session of better than a million shares.

Rising prices ruled from the start with activity pronounced except at intervals. Sizable blocks aided volume. Liquidation was a bit more insistent in the final hour, and extreme advances were reduced in the majority of cases, with a smattering of pivotals on the losing end at the close.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite was up .6 of a point at 67.6, a high.

Fifteen utilities, 35.67, off .06.

Chicago Grain

CHICAGO, Oct. 20 (AP).—A high since 1917 was established by wheat futures on the Board of Trade today when the December contract sold at $3.07 a bushel.

Buying was based upon an increase in the Government flour-buying price, reports that Eastern bakers were making inquiries for flour, and continued dry weather in the Southwestern Winter Wheat belt.

The strength of wheat caused some buying of other grains, but corn showed a tendency to lag behind the market because of favorable crop-curing weather and price declines for live hogs.

Winnipeg Grain

WINNIPEG, Oct. 20 (CP).—Rye futures prices ranged from 6¾ to 10c higher on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today, with October rye scoring an all-time high of $4.12⅞. Lack of offerings and light demand by shipper accounts contributed to the upturn. Trading was dull. Class two wheat reached a new all-time high of $3.21.

Budget Surplus For Half Year

OTTAWA, Oct. 20 (CP).—The Federal treasury has just announced a surplus of $482,605,520 for the first six months of the current fiscal year, more than four times the surplus for the same period last year when the financial year was completed with a record credit on the Federal ledgers of more than $352,000,000.

With another obvious record surplus looming for the end of the present fiscal year, the question is: What is the Government going to do with the money? There are a number of unofficial opinions but the Government isn't saying anything as yet and probably won't until the new budget is brought down in Parliament by Finance Minister Abbott next April.

Most predictions are that the big surplus will put the Government in a position to announce major cuts in various kinds of taxation, including income taxes which are still well above prewar levels and which probably will never get down that low again.

Seek Body of Hunter Near Cowichan Lake

Sixteen weary searchers trudged back to Cowichan Lake late yesterday afternoon following a fruitless all-day search for the body of Frank Islip of Victoria, victim of Vancouver Island's first hunting fatality this season.

Provincial Police said the terrain over which the search was being conducted was broken, bush-clad and very difficult to traverse. Islip's companion, Robert Nelson Carlow, 255 Gorge Road, was unable to lead the searchers back to where the body is lying.

Search will be resumed early this morning.

Islip, 38, of 2748 Cook Street, is reported to have died instantly in a shooting accident Sunday on Stoltze Logging Company's operations near Cowichan Lake, where he and Carlow, his cousin, had gone for a day's hunting.

Reports to police said the two were going through the woods when Carlow's firearm, said to be a .303 rifle, went off striking Islip in the face.

Darkness overtook police searchers Sunday before they were able to find the body, after Carlow had made his way to Cowichan Lake to report the accident.

Islip was the son of a former Provincial Police officer, the late Frank Islip. He leaves his widow; a daughter, Margaret, 13; a son, Frank, 6; his mother, and two sisters, Mrs. Mary Griffin and Mrs. Nora McConnell, Victoria.

Other persons killed in the Province during the week-end included:

Sidney Anfield, 46, Vancouver, who was returning from a hunting trip when struck by a Canadian Pacific Railway train at Port Coquitlam on Saturday night.

John Rowam, 13, and Bert Caruthers, both of Vancouver, whose car plunged 800 feet down an embankment to railway tracks near Chase on Saturday.

Rudolph Sidback, 32, one of a party of six New Westminster hunters, who was drowned in Oilery Slough between Duck and Gun Islands early Sunday when his punt overturned.

Probe Mill Accident At Campbell River

CHARLES Ebbert North, 58, a married man living at Campbell River, died in Lourdes Hospital there Sunday night as a result of injuries received in Zanatta's Sawmill, according to a report to Provincial Police headquarters here yesterday.

Canada's Role Empire Heart

SIDNEY, Oct. 20.—Speaking briefly during the intermission at a recital in St. Paul's United Church Sunday evening, Harold Timmins, M.P. for South Park, Toronto, declared that he shared the view Canada of the future would be the heart of the new British Empire. He quoted Prime Minister Attlee of Great Britain who asserted that 12,500,000 Canadians could not long hope to hold to themselves the third largest country in the world.

He felt immigration was Canada's great problem of the day. It was the Dominion's duty to provide homes for the surplus 10,000,000 homeless Anglo-Saxons in the British Isles. They were living some 740 to the square mile, compared with only three per square mile in Canada.

Mr. Timmins pointed out that Canada had recently grown to be the fifth largest trading country in the world, but took only 18th place when it came to population. Canada was larger than the United States in area. He regretted the lack of a constructive immigration policy by the Federal Government, declaring the question was such an important one it deserved attention to the point of setting up a Department for Immigration separate from the Department of Mines and Resources under whose jurisdiction the matter was now controlled.

Ladysmith Native Son Drowns When Craft Founders at Dam

LADYSMITH, Oct. 20.—Gordon Pollock, 22, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Pollock of Ladysmith, was drowned at 10:30 a.m. Sunday at the Comox Logging & Railway Co., Ltd. dam, eight miles east of Ladysmith. The punt from which he was fishing sprung a leak and filled with water. He fell out, and his companion, Miss Violet Stupich of South Wellington, atempted to hold him above the surface, but he sliped from her grasp.

Kenneth and Dick Herlinveaux, who were hunting in the vicinity, recovered the body. Attempts to revive Pollock proved unsuccessful. He was a member of the Merchant Navy and had served on Park Steamships for the past four years. He was born and educated at Ladysmith, and was home on leave at the time of the tragedy. An inquest will be held at 2 p.m. Tesday.

Animals Visit Human Haunts

QUALICUM BEACH, Oct. 20.—Wild animals abound in the district. C. H. Kennedy, Grafton Road, reported shooting a bear. E. Foster, French Creek, sighted a wolf near Northwest Bay. A bull elk was found grazing in a pasture at the Milne Farm, Errington. Three years ago a game warden had to destroy an elk that fought with a mare on the G. Price farm at Errington. The mare was killed.

Popular Hotel To Be Closed

CAMPBELL RIVER, Oct. 20.—Forbes Landing Hotel on Lower Campbell Lake, operated by Mr. and Mrs. James Forbes, must be vacated by next March. On or about that date the British Columbia Power Commission will close the gates of Ladore Falls dam and flood the valley.

Mr. Forbes first visited Campbell River with the late Michael King, who had settled in Comox Valley to form the King & Casey Logging company. After exploring the Gold River and upper portion of Campbell River, they came across Elk Falls, and immediately sensed its importance as a potential source of power.

Campbell River Power Company was formed, and in 1908 Mr. Forbes was employed to take readings of the depths of the river, which duty he carried out for 35 years. He filed a claim on land at Lower Campbell Lake, and built a hotel that stood until it was destroyed by fire in 1938. He replaced it with a modern building.

Passes Suddenly At Dinner Table

NANAIMO, Oct. 20.—Apparently in good health and spirits as he sat at Sunday dinner with his family August Andre, 55, Rock City market gardener, suddenly slumped from his chair and was dead before his family could reach his side. A coroner's inquiry will be held. He is a native of Northfield, and in earlier years was a Wellington coal miner.

Visitor Presents Recital at Sidney

SIDNEY, Oct. 20.—Following his regular Sunday evening service in St. Paul's United Church, Rev. E. S. Fleming introduced his sister, Mrs. A. F. Timmins of Toronto, who gave a recital of sacred music. Mr. Fleming paid tribute to his sister as one who had always succeeded in visiting him in various charges he had held from New York to Dawson City in the Yukon.

Mrs. Timmins delighted the packed congregation, which included visitors from Brentwood and Keating, with her sweet and pleasant rendition of three groups of songs. The first group included selections from oratorios: "He Shall Feed His Flock," from the Messiah; "O Rest in the Lord," from Elijah, and "O Lord Most Holy," arranged by Cesar Franck.

For the second part of her program, Mrs. Timmins offered the following group of negro spirituals: "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen", "Swing Low Sweet Chariot", and "Virgin Slumbers," arranged by Max Reger. Her concluding group consisted of "The 91st Psalm", arranged by James G. MacDermid; "O Saviour Hear Me", arranged by Gluck, and "Open the Gates of the Temple".

B. F. Mears presented the soloist with a bouquet of carnations.

Supplies of fuel oil in Victoria were adequate to last the Winter, according to distributors, who added, however, that the supplies would only be sold to regular customers.

Orders from any new customers, it was explained, would be turned down in order to ensure regular customers of their fuel oil.

Increase in the amount of the product used in the Dominion was noted with consumption this year three times that of 1939.

Shortage of supplies was "a serious impediment" to expansion of facilities needed to keep up production and other phases and distribution of petroleum products.

However, it was understood, expansion of the oil industry had been the subject of a long-range program, and present shortages were only temporary.

Services Start Program Of Accident Prevention

Implementing the recent announcement by National Defence Headquarters that a combined services accident prevention program was soon to be launched on a nation-wide scale, the first tri-service course in traffic safety and accident prevention commenced at Camp Borden this week. The course is specifically designed to train a number of officers who will give their full time to locating and correcting accident causes and hazards for all motor vehicles of the Navy, Army and Air Force.

In reducing the services' own accident rate, the program will not only help to cut the country's yearly toll in traffic accidents but will also effect a considerable saving in accident claims and compensation payments made by the Department of National Defence. The department has realized that many traffic accidents can be avoided. Permanent safety officers, upon completing the three-week course, will be installed in the various Army and Air Commands and in H.M.C. Dockyards at Esquimalt and Halifax. Unit officers assigned to this work will be responsible to these headquarters. The entire program will be co-ordinated through a combined services staff at National Defence Headquarters.

The course is being held at the Royal Canadian Army Service Corps School in Camp Borden where the latest equipment for driver testing is now available for teaching and demonstration purposes. Much of it was actually made at the school as it was unobtainable elsewhere. Eventualy such equipment will be used to test all service drivers to ascertain reaction time, depth perception and side vision. Hearing checks, vision and color perception tests will also be made. Only expert drivers will operate service vehicles.

Foreign Tongue Causes Attack

Joseph Stefanik, 41, 2525 Rose Street, was treated at city police headquarters early Sunday morning for severe cuts on his nose and face which he said were the result of an attack by a young man at the corner of Fisgard and Government Streets, city police reported.

According to Stefanik, he and a friend were talking in their native Slavic language when they were approached by a party of four young men. One of the men objected to the use of a foreign language, knocked Stefanik to the ground and kicked him in the face. The four men then fled from the scene.

'Chute Training For Medicos?

Additional young medical officers in the Canadian Army may soon be given parachute and other airborne training, it was learned in Ottawa yesterday.

Object of such a program would be to provide more doctors able to parachute from aircraft for military and civilian purposes.

At present, it was pointed out, there was only one qualified medical parachutist in the Canadian Army. Army doctors who qualify for their wings receive regular army pay, an additional $30 monthly risk pay and $60 more a month paid to medical men.

Owners Confident Snohomish Can "Go Through Anything"

"We're quite satisfied the tug can go through anything," remarked Harold B. Elworthy, president of Victoria Tug & Barge Ltd., last night while reporting that the Snohomish and her big tow "rode out" the vicious storm which swept the northwest Pacific over the weekend.

With the barge Island Yarder, carrying six large United States tugs, in tow, the Snohomish is heading for Buenos Aires, Argentina, 10,000 miles away.

"Their progress was slowed down considerably during the storm," Mr. Elworthy reported, "but everything's going along fine now." During the storm, he added, crew members of the Snohomish could not see the Island Yarder, 2,000 feet astern.

By early yesterday evening the vessels were more than 500 miles south of Seattle. They passed Cape Blanco on the Oregon coast early in the morning.

Army-Made Toys Ready For Europe

Made by members of the Canadian Army during spare time hours, 73 packing cases containing 2,534 toys are awaiting shipment to Britain and Europe, it was announced in Ottawa yesterday.

The toys will be distributed to needy children overseas who would not otherwise receive anything at Christmas.

Sponsored by the Children's Friendship and Gifts' Association, the plan is a result of a visit to Canada last year by Mrs. J. R. Eden, honorary director of the Children's World Community Chest. Army officials gave their support to her project and the toy scheme was started.

Wage Increase Rejected By School Body

A request for a general wage increase from members of the Greater Victoria School Board Employees' Association was unanimously turned down at a meeting of the school board last night.

"They cannot seriously consider that we would grant such a request at this time," said Trustee M. P. Paine.

The communication from the association asked for a $25 boost for monthly employees and 15 cents per hour for other workers.

Trustee Waldo Skillings stated the workers had received a 12 and a half cent an hour increase across the board, as well as the 40-hour week earlier this year.

"These workers are working on just as good a pay scale as other carpenters and tradesmen in the city," commented Trustee Arnold Edmunds.

"The request, I am sure," said Mr. Edmunds, "is not in the least indicative of the opinion of most of the employees, who are quite well satisfied. It is lamentable that they should ask for more money at this time."

A plan drawn up by the buildings and grounds committee whereby organizations using school buildings for meetings would pay a fixed rate of rental for each session was tabled at the request of Trustee Edmunds, who wanted more time to study the scale.

The rates, which would not include janitorial fees, amounted to $1 for classrooms, $2 for auditoriums and $5 for the Victoria High School auditorium, to be tripled for organizations not connected with adult education.

Claw Marks Of Cougar Found on Pole

"Pluto," a trained cougar dog, owned by Lawrence Butler, of Sooke, found definite traces of a cougar in Macdonald Park, Sunday afternoon, city police reported yesterday.

Offered the services of the dog by its owner, Sgt. Peris Atkinson and Butler went to the park on Sunday. No scent was found outside the park fence but inside the enclosure the dog picked up the scent in the southeast corner and followed it to a floodlight pole, some distance away.

A closer examination of the pole showed "unmistakable" claw marks, and police expressed the opinion that the animal left the park by that route.

Appeal Court Reserves Decision on Henderson

Judgment was reserved by the Appeal Court yesterday following final argument by counsel for William Henderson, 17, of Vancouver, who was convicted and sentenced to hang for his part in the February 26 slaying of two Vancouver police officers.

Judgment will be handed down in Vancouver on November 4.

Henderson and Harry Medos, 22, also of Vancouver, both were convicted of murder and sentenced to death as the result of the shooting of Patrolmen Charles Boyes and Oliver Ledingham during a gun battle on False Creek Flats when the officers attempted to take the men into custody for alleged attempted bank robbery.

Douglas Carter, the third man, was killed in the gun fight, and Det. Sgt. Percy Hoare was severely wounded.

Medos has since paid with his life for his part in the shooting. His appeal from the death sentence was dismissed by the Court of Appeal early in its present session.

Defence Counsel John G. Gould based his final argument chiefly on the trial judge's charge to the jury. He stated that the judge erred in informing the jury that it was within its province to determine whether or not there had been an attempt made to rob the bank, and challenged the correctness of the judge's definition of an attempt to commit a crime.

Mr. Gould maintained that the fact that the three men had intended to rob the bank, and had made all necessary preparations, did not constitute an attempt.

"Intention to commit a crime is not against the law," he stated.

He pointed out that the robbery had been frustrated before the men had approached to within a city block of the bank. There had been no entry of the bank; in fact, the bank staff and police, according to evidence, were unaware that a robbery was intended, he said.

Defence counsel also disagreed with the trial judge's statement in his charge that the failure of the three men to answer questions put by Det. Sgt. Hoare at the scene of crime, was resistance.

He said that none of the three men had refused to answer the question. He called the detective's question, "Who are you fellows, anyway?" a "loose" query, and said it might easily have been directed to the two constables who had been accompanying the three gunmen.

Secondly, he said, the three men had no time in which to answer these questions. He pointed out that Det. Hoare had stated in evidence that events happened in split seconds. If wrong in this contention, then counsel claimed the three men had a perfect right to refuse to answer if they believed, as counsel maintained they did, that they were in custody at the time.

Appeal from conviction on charge of retaining stolen property was opened yesterday by M. A. van Roggen, on behalf of Russel and Nobel Moore, both of Vancouver.

The former had been sentenced to five years and the latter to four years in the penitentiary.

The case will continue today. J. B Clearihue, K.C., is Crown counsel.

Old-Time Dime Chain Letter Grown Into Bigger Scheme—Just as Illegal

The "send a dime" chain-letter scheme which allegedly began in Denver in the early '30's has mushroomed—with the help of the "I want to get rich quick" credo and inflation—into an illegal plan which purports to pay up to $2,048 for a $4 investment.

A number of the letters have been reported here in Victoria, and more are expected to be making the rounds.

Here's how it works:

One person offers to sell another the privilege of joining a letter-chain for $2. He gives him the letter with 10 names on it and the buyer sends the top named person $2 in the presence of the seller so that he knows the chain is carried on. No writing is enclosed. Then the buyer scratches off the top name and adds his own to the bottom and repeats the process. Everything is in order for him to sit back, wait hopefully and, if there is no hitch, receive 1,024 letters at $2 each.

Actually it doesn't work out that way. The plan has fallen short of expectations. The highest "take" so far has been only $100 but even though that is much less than the hoped-for $2,048, it is still a hard to beat return on a $4 investment.

The scheme was begun by New York's young intellectual set and reportedly is receiving it's greatest play from employees of the Reader's Digest, Harper's and New Yorker magazines, according to reports from the North American Newspaper Alliance, New York.

According to Thomas F. Murphy, chief of the Criminal Division of the Federal District Attorney's Office in New York, any chain-letter sent through the mails "positively is illegal. It violates the Lottery Law of 1909 because if an individual's name does not come into the chain early in the scheme, he may not receive as much money as he sends out. Therefore chain-letters are a game of chance, a lottery."

Mr. Murphy adds that the new plan of handing the chain-letter from person to person, instead of sending it through the Post Office Department, is "also illegal, being a violation of the same law."

Chief of Police J. A. McLellan said yesterday that the letters also would be illegal in Canada.

"They would be classed as a lottery, or a game of chance, and in that event, illegal."

He said he had not yet heard of the scheme and was unaware that any had made their appearance in Victoria.
